THE 2009 SEASON OUTLOOK

Ingram becomes the sixth head coach in Red Wolves volleyball history and comes to ASU with ten years of assistant coaching experience. He served eight years at Kansas State as the recruiting coordinator and offensive coordinator for the Wildcats. During his time at Kansas State, the team had seven 20-win seasons and made seven NCAA

"We do some goal setting both as a team and as individuals," Ingram explained during the preseason. "I'm always interested to see what the perception is of the team

While the head coach and style of play may be changing, four seniors and 11 returning letterwinners will provide a great deal of experience on the hardwood for ASU.

Senior defensive specialist Erin Neeley (5'5" Jonesboro, Ark.) led the Arkansas State squad for the third consecutive season with 441 digs and enters the 2009 season ranked fourth on the ASU career digs chart with 1,323 digs. She was named Sun Belt Conference Defensive Player of the Week on October 20 after leading ASU to a 3-0 week against New Orleans, Louisiana-Lafayette and Louisiana-Monroe.

Senior defensive specialist Heather Bowman (5'8" Forth Smith, Ark.) posted 338 digs to rank second on the team in 2008. She added 15 service aces, 30 assists and nine kills on the season.

Senior outside hitter Mandy DeWalt (5'8" Houston, Texas) finished the 2008 season with 185 kills. She recorded a career high 17 kills twice in the same day, setting the mark September 13 against Southern Illinois and again later in the day against Western Illinois. DeWalt also posted 175 digs, 21 blocks, 21 service aces and 17 assists on the year.

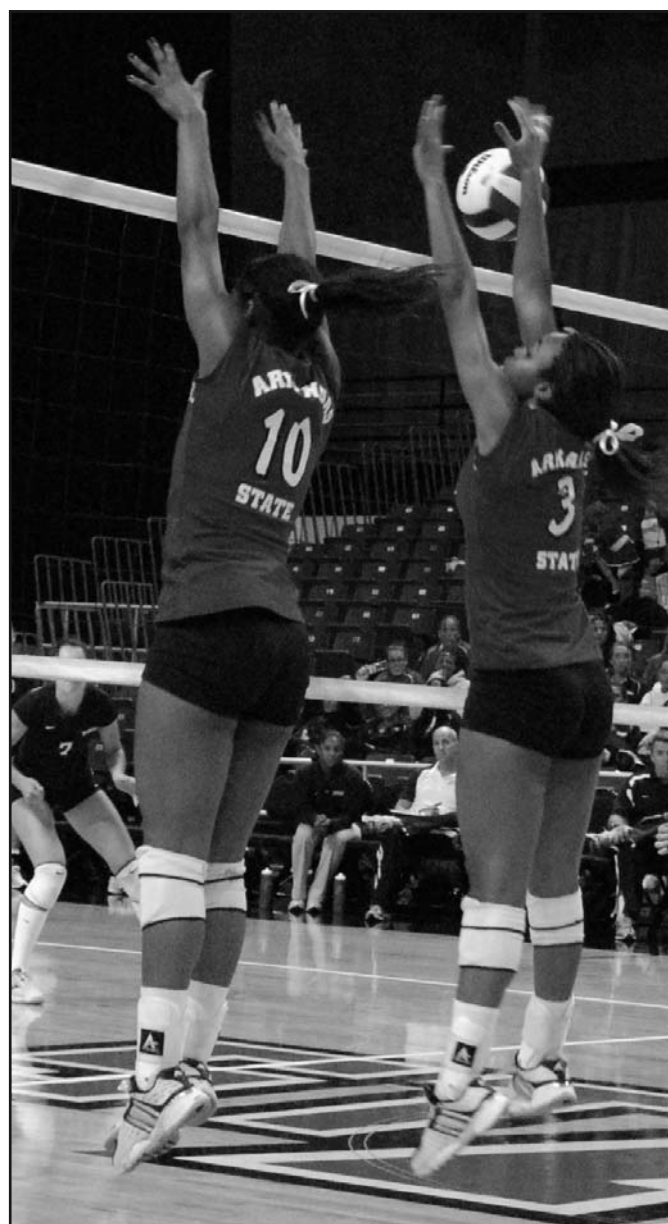

“Mandy is a big contributor,” Ingram added. “She’s a passing left-side hitter. She plays all the way around and will have the ability to play for us a significant amount of time, because she can do more than one thing pretty well. She can pass well. She can attack at a pretty high level, and she can also do some of the little things that end up to be big things on the court. She has experience within the Sun Belt Conference.”

Senior outside hitter
Konae Purcell (5'11" Aiea, Hawaii) led the Red Wolves with 296 kills despite missing eight matches due to injury, averaging 3.89 kills per set. Her average ranked her third in the Sun Belt. She added 35 blocks to finish third on the team and was named to the all-tournament team at the Southern Illinois-Hampton Inn Saluki Invitational. Purcell was named MVP of both the Texas Southern Sea-son-Opening Tournament and the Western Carolina Catamount Clash.

"Konae is coming back from an ACL surgery. She had that done in December and is currently on track to begin her jumping. Hopefully, we can get her full-out match play soon. She has been participating in our practices, but I think her role will change throughout the course of the season. I think we'll count on her more as the season progresses. She's still in the beginning stages of coming back. It's a bit of a process," Ingram explained.

Junior setter Laura Bennett (5'8" Kansas City, Kan.) led the team with 1,224 assists, averaging 10.9 assists per set to rank third in the Sun Belt Conference and 28th nationally. Her season assist total is seventh best in ASU history. Bennett also recorded 78 kills, 32 blocks and 20 service aces in 2008.

Senior Mandy DeWalt (10) and junior Christin Baker (3) will bring a wealth of playing experience to the court in 2009.

"I think her expectations are high as a setter and as somebody that has Sun Belt experience," Ingram said. "She's played out there all last season, and she should have another great year."

Sophomore middle blocker Cayla Fielder (6'1" Jonesboro, Ark.) saw action in all 33 matches for the Red Wolves and led ASU with 103 blocks as a true freshman. She landed second on the team with 291 kills and posted a .363 hitting percentage to rank fourth in the Sun Belt and 36th nationally at the end of the regular season. Her season hitting percentage of .356 ranks sixth in ASU history. She was named to the Texas Southern and UMKC Kangaroo Klassic all-tournament teams, as well as second team All-Sun Belt Conference and SBC Freshman of the Year.

"Cayla had some great numbers as a freshman," added Ingram. "I think it's very difficult to come into any conference and not only start as a freshman but put up numbers that can add up to something. She was SBC Freshman of the Year, and she was awarded that because she got 2.47 kills per set. To get that many kills per game is hard. And it's really hard for somebody to come in and do that. Typically in their sophomore, junior, and senior year, the players get better over the course of it. Usually in the freshman year, they're learning. Sophomore year, they're getting it. Junior year, they have it, and senior year, they have mastered it. Usually that's the trend, and I expect her to have a bright future this year and for the next three years. If she keeps getting better like she is, she will be a tremendous volleyball player when she's done. She is already a tremendous athlete, but she is going to become a tremendous volleyball player."

Ingram expects several returning Red Wolves to step up in their respective positions despite a lack of playing time last season. He explained, "I think Brittany Hoag (6'1" Crosby, Texas) is a player from last year that nobody knew about because she tore her ACL in the first practice. Nobody got to see her practice or compete within the conference. She'll turn some heads this year, and she should contribute for us along with Charlyn Ursell (5'10" Houston, Texas). I think she's also a player that got limited playing time last season but should get significant time this year. There are some young ones for us that didn't play but will this year. They'll learn it, and it should be a good year for some the young players."

The Red Wolves have added two newcomers to the lineup this season. Kelsie Hodges (5'11" Jonesboro, Ark.) and Taylor Coughlin (6'0" Bloomington, Ill.) make up the 2009 recruiting class. "Both freshmen should compete with us all year and have a chance,"

Senior defensive specialists Heather Bowman and Erin Neeley both saw action in all 33 matches last season and are expected to see significant playing time again in 2009.

Ingram said.

"Kelsie Hodges is a local athlete from Nettleton High School," Ingram explained. "She's a middle blocker for us. I think she is a very efficient player for us and moves well side-to-side. I think that's an important thing for middle blockers to do. The first thing they have to get good at is blocking. It's not that blocking wins matches, but it helps stop the opponent. She is very talented at moving side-to-side. I see that as one of her strengths, and she's very athletic. She doesn't make tons and tons of errors. She's a low-error player coming in, and she should make a push this year. She should make a push to get some time and contribute. How far she goes is up to her, but she is doing great in preseason."

"Taylor is coming back from a spider bite injury, but I saw her on the recruiting trail," said Ingram. "She is also a low-error player. She does many things well. She is an outside hitter that can pass and hit, but she won't make many errors. Period. She is a player that will keep it in, keep the rally going and hit it when she needs to. I think as she progresses through her career her, she will get stronger and more physical. I think she's a terrific player for us."

The 2009 Red Wolves will take the court for the first time August 28 playing in a tournament hosted by the University of Memphis. Arkansas State will host its own tournament, the ASU Classic, September 4 and 5 before hitting the road to play in tournaments hosted by Mississippi State and Texas-Arlington.

Sun Belt Conference action will begin for A-State September 24 when the Red Wolves travel to New Orleans. Only eight of the remaining 17 games will be played in Jonesboro. The ASU Convocation Center will host matches with SBC foes South Alabama, Troy, Louisiana-Lafayette, UNO, Louisiana-Monroe and in-state rival UALR. The matches against North Texas and Denver will be played at Jonesboro

High School.

This year's SBC Championship tournament will be hosted by Western Kentucky in Bowling Green, Ky.

"The conference is very difficult," Ingram said. "In the top end of the conference, the RPI's have been very high the past few years. Those teams were rewarded with NCAA tournament bids. Three teams last year were selected to the NCAA tournament, which is high for any conference. I know some of the 'power conferences' have gotten four, sometimes five, in and for the Sun Belt to get three that was a big deal and a step in the right direction."

Justin Ingram

Arkansas State University Director of Athletics Dr. Dean Lee announced Friday, April 17 that Justin Ingram has been named head coach of the Red Wolves volleyball team.

"We are very excited to name Justin Ingram as our new women's volleyball coach," said Lee. "Justin has obviously been associated with some outstanding programs at Kansas State and Houston. He comes with a tremendous reputation as a great trainer and as a great recruiter. He started as one of our top candidates and remained there until the end."

Ingram becomes the sixth head coach in ASU volleyball history after serving eight years as an assistant coach at Kansas State.

During his time at Kansas State, he served as the recruiting coordinator and offensive coordinator for the Wildcats who posted a 171-79 record and made seven NCAA tournament appearances during his time with the program. While at Kansas State, the Wildcats earned American Volleyball Coaches Association top-25 final rankings six different seasons including a No. 11 final ranking in 2003. The Wildcats also had seven 20-win seasons in his time there, including a 30-win season and a first-place finish in the Big 12 in 2003. Kansas State's final RPI ranked in the top-30 nationally during seven of Ingram's eight seasons with the Wildcats.

Ingram served the previous two years as an assistant coach at the University of Houston. He served as a junior college recruiting coordinator, travel coordinator and assistant director of camps. The Cougars posted a 42-24 record and made back-to-back NCAA tournament appearances and posted consecutive 20-win seasons in 1998 and 1999. The Cougars were the Conference USA National Division Runners-up in 1998 and C-USA National Division Champions in 1999.

During his career, Ingram has helped lead teams to nine NCAA Tournament appearances including a trip to the Sweet Sixteen in 2003. He has coached eight All-America selections, 22 All-Big 12 selections, 55 Academic All-Big 12 players, six All-Conference USA selections, four Big 12 Libero of the Year winners, a Big 12 Player of the Year, a Big 12 Newcomer of the Year and a C-USA Player of the Year.

Ingram earned his bachelor's degree in Community and Regional Planning from Iowa State University in 1995 and a master's degree in City and Regional Planning from Cal Poly San Luis Obispo in 1998.

"Arkansas State is a tremendous university with an excellent volleyball program and I'm thrilled to be here," said Ingram. "I think the program is heading in a very positive direction and I'm excited to be part of its future. Not only does ASU have a strong volleyball program, it's in a strong conference and has great support from the community. So, this is a great situation and opportunity and I look forward to the challenges ahead."

Ingram was named head coach of the Red Wolves volleyball program April 17 after serving as an assistant coach at Kansas State for the past eight years.

COACHING STAFF

What They're Saying About Ingram . . .

"I think extremely highly of him. He has been instrumental in the development of our program over the past eight years in every facet of what we've done here and what we've been able to accomplish at K-State. He is a dear friend and a wonderful volleyball coach. I think that Arkansas State is very fortunate to have an opportunity to have him be their volleyball coach."

Suzie Fritz, Head Volleyball Coach
Kansas State University

"I think Justin is going to do an outstanding job at Arkansas State. One of the reasons I'm very interested in what happens there is because our conference has taken leaps and bounds the last couple of years in volleyball. Our conference RPI is now 11th in the country out of the 33 conferences, and I think Arkansas State is really a great opportunity for somebody. I think Justin has paid his dues being in the Big 12 for so many years and has been associated with two very successful programs at K-State and the University of Houston. I think he's just ready for this, and I encouraged him very much to go after this job. I told him they have a very athletic team in place right now, and I think Arkansas State is a great place to recruit to. I just thought it was a good fit in both directions."

Matt Peck, Head Volleyball Coach
Middle Tennessee State University

"I think it's a great hire for Arkansas State. He's a very good trainer. I've seen him train in the gym, and he's an excellent trainer. I think most people would agree that he's one of the hardest working recruiters out there. He's done a great job of bringing in some tremendously talented athletes internationally and here in the country. I think ASU has a great history and tradition with the volleyball program there, and I think it was a very smart hire. I think it's one that sends the message that ASU wants to go to the next level."

Kelly Sheffield, Head Volleyball Coach
University of Dayton

Julie Allen

Assistant Coach - 2nd year

Julie Allen joined the Arkansas State volleyball staff as an assistant coach on April 1, 2008, after two seasons at Georgetown.

Allen joined the Georgetown program in August 2006 after spending nearly two years at California State University at Chico as the assistant women's volleyball coach and head men's club coach.

"I am truly excited that Julie agreed to come to Arkansas State and our volleyball program," ASU Head Coach Craig Cummings said. "She brings with her a wealth of experience from the Big East Conference, training the setters and coordinating the offense at Georgetown University during the last couple of seasons. With some very talented candidates in the pool, Julie stood out as the best, allowing our program to take advantage of her experience and expertise and help us climb back to the top of the Sun Belt Conference."

After graduating from the University of Portland in 2002, Allen was the head volleyball coach at Tualatin High School in Tualatin, Ore. until 2003. She was a lead coach for the Empire Volleyball Club in Santa Rosa, Calif. from 2000-2004.

Allen is also a graduate of the NCAA Women's Coaches Academy, which is designed for women coaches who are ready and willing to increase their individual effectiveness through learning advanced skills and strategies that directly affect their personal and team success.

A four-year setter at Portland, Allen stands at fifth on the Pilots' all-time career assists list with 2,042.

"I have to thank Coach Cummings for giving me the opportunity to come here and work with the student-athletes and administration," Allen said. "Coach Cummings has an amazing program with athletes that want to work and improve their game. I wanted to learn from someone who has had a successful program, and I will definitely be able to do that at Arkansas State."

"Julie is a bright young lady with a lot of energy and has an outside-the-box mentality towards developing new ways to train the team," Cummings said. "She will coordinate our recruiting efforts as well as handle the video systems throughout the year."

"The Sun Belt Conference has progressed in the competitive world of volleyball, and I hope I can bring something that helps both Arkansas State and the conference," Allen said.

2008 YEAR-IN-REVIEW

2008: A Season of Change for Arkansas State

The 2008-2009 season proved to be one of many up's and down's for the Arkansas State volleyball program. A new mascot, 21 wins and honors along the way highlighted the 2008 season.

In finishing the regular season at 21-11 and 10-8 in league play, Arkansas State posted its highest winning percentage (.656) since the 2004 season, when ASU finished 25-7 (.781) and tied for first place in the Sun Belt East Division.

Following regular season play, freshman Cayla Fielder was named to the All-Sun Belt Conference second team and selected as the SBC Freshman of the Year. After just one season, Fielder has etched her name in the ASU record book with the sixth best single-season hitting percentage.

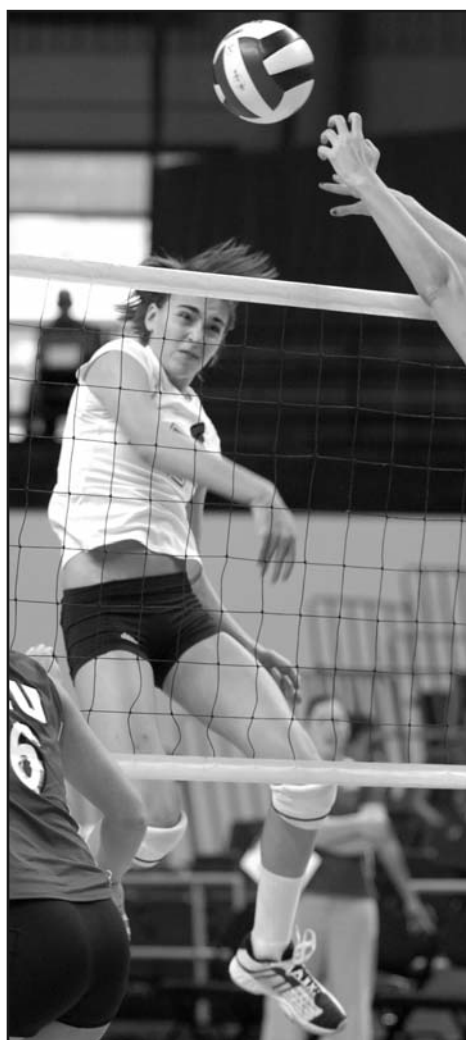

Junior Libero Erin Neeley staked her claim on the ASU career digs chart ranking fourth with 1,323 digs with a season to play still ahead.

Junior Laura Bennett also moved into the record rankings, posting 1,224 assists on the year and earning the seventh spot on the single season chart.

ASU entered the Sun Belt Conference Tournament as the No. 7 seed, taking on second-seeded Middle Tennessee. The Blue Raiders ended ASU's postseason play topping the Red Wolves 3-0. Over the season, the team posted four win streaks of four wins or more.

With its 4-0 start, ASU got off to its best start since the 2004 season when it started 5-0. The team posted wins over Mississippi Valley State, Texas Southern and The Citadel in the Texas Southern Season-Opening Tournament followed by a win over UT-Martin at the Convocation Center September 2. The Red Wolves did not lose a set in their first four matches. Junior Konae Purcell was named MVP of the tournament and Neeley was named the tournament's outstanding defensive specialist, while Fielder was selected to the all-tournament team.

Freshman Cayla Fielder finished her first year as a Red Wolf with the sixth best single-season hitting percentage in ASU history, All-Sun Belt Conference second team honors and as the SBC Freshman of the Year.

The second streak began in the last game of the Hampton Inn Saluki Invitational September 13 when Arkansas State defeated Western Illinois 3-1. The Red Wolves then won three straight matches at the Western Carolina Catamount Clash over Presbyterian, Western Carolina and Norfolk State. Purcell was also named MVP of the Catamount Clash, while now-departed senior Mafo Joelle earned all-tournament honors.

Back-to-back home wins over Louisiana-Lafayette September 26 and Louisiana-Monroe September 28 started the third win streak, followed by road wins over South Alabama and Troy. The Red Wolves also topped Memphis 3-1 at home October 7, before losing to Middle Tennessee and Western Kentucky. The last win streak started with a road-swing through the state of Louisiana beginning October 16. ASU defeated New Orleans 3-0, Louisiana-Lafayette 3-1 and Louisiana-Monroe 3-0 over the weekend. Neeley was named SBC Defensive Player of the Week following the weekend sweep. The Red Wolves returned home to top Florida Atlantic October 24 before falling to Florida International the next day.

Arkansas State won its last two matches on the road, winning at UALR 3-2 and North Texas 3-0.

The end of the 2008 season also marked the end of head coach Craig Cummings' time at Arkansas State. Cummings announced his resignation in February 2009 after 13 years at ASU, and Justin Ingram was named head coach in April.

The Arkansas State Volleyball program has racked up 227 victories at the Convocation Center in the 22 seasons it has played in the arena. ASU has an amazing 227-62 record (.785) in the building since its opening in 1987.

The team has had undefeated home records in four seasons, including 2004, when the team was 14-0 at the Convocation Center. The building was built in 1987 at a cost of $19 million and paid for primarily by the state of Arkansas. The 10,563-seat multi-purpose facility has earned its title as the "Showplace of Northeast Arkansas" over the past 15 years.

The Convocation Center is not only home to the Red Wolves volleyball program, but also the Arkansas State men's and women's basketball programs and the indoor home of the A-State track and field program.

Beginning in 1990, the Convocation Center played host

The ASU Convocation Center—ASU has a 208-45 record in matches played in the building.

to seven straight conference post-season tournaments, including six straight Sun Belt Conference Volleyball Championships. In 1997, for the first time since ASU joined the Sun Belt Conference, the league's post-season tournament was held in a place other than Jonesboro.

ASU won five of those seven conference tournaments it hosted, going 21-4 in tournament action at the Convocation Center.

Arkansas State has had crowds of over 1,000 for a volleyball match eight times, including a record 4,140 for a match against the University of Memphis on Nov. 25, 1995, that was part of a men's basketball/volleyball doubleheader.

ASU went undefeated in home matches in back-to-back seasons in 1988 (15-0) and 1989 (12-0) and won its first three home matches of the 1990 season to post a 28-match home winning streak the longest in program history. ASU has gone through a season with just one home loss four times, including three years ago in 2003. The other three came in 1994 (11-1), 1995 (15-1), and 1998 (14-1).

Not only does the Convocation Center play host to Arkansas State athletic home events, the building also attracts people from all over Northeast Arkansas and the Mid-South region for a variety of other events—from concerts to conventions, area business expositions and conferences, banquets and university and high school commencements as well.

Arkansas State University continues to thrive and expand. The University is constantly undergoing changes in its look, its increased enrollment and its expanding academic programs. The last few years have seen extensive physical changes, including more housing, a parking garage, a new and refurbished student center, and there are more changes on the books for the near future. ASU is emerging as one of the leading universities in the South when it comes to preparing its graduates for the world's challenges.

WELCOME TO ARKANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

The College of Business is the home of the Delta Center for Economic Development. The Center will coordinate the economic development outreach services of the university and provide a coordinated and comprehensive approach to serving the businesses, governments and citizens of the Arkansas Delta. The opportunity to create the new center came when a $1,000,000 grant from the Economic Development of Arkansas Fund Commission was received.

Beautiful apartment housing constructed in the coastal style of the Gulf Coast or tropical islands cover the east side of campus.

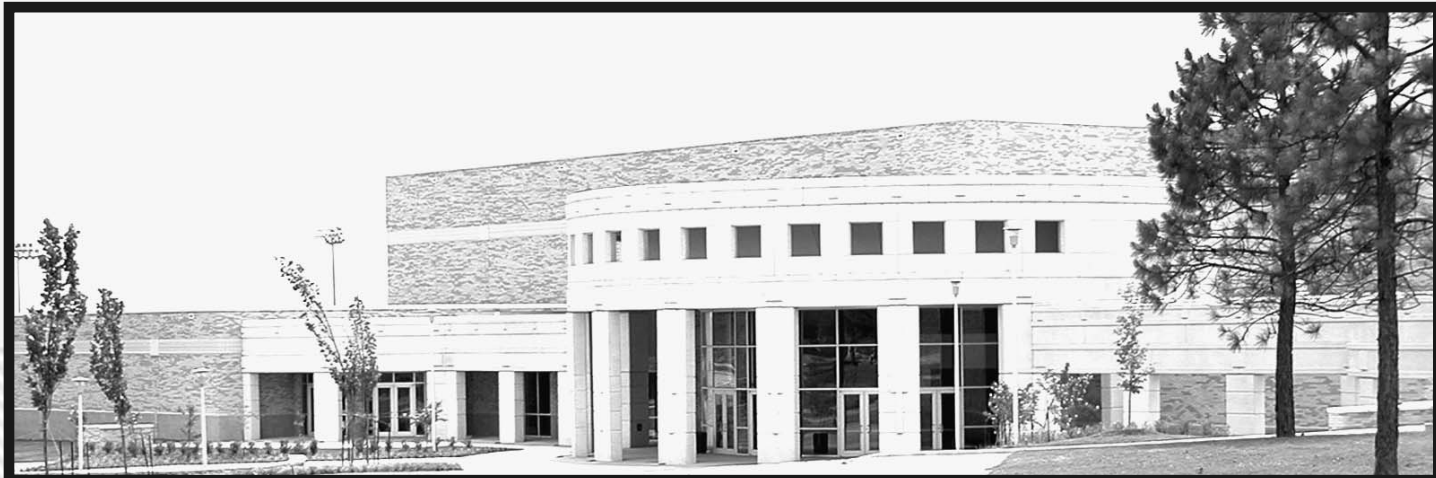

Located next to the pond that lies close to the Pavilion, and just southwest of ASU Stadium, ASU's new alumni center recently opened.

It's presence adds another dimension to football game day. Arkansas State's alums will be able to incorporate game-day activities in a centralized area.

A new section of student housing called Red Wolf Den was recently completed as well, another sign of ASU's growth.

Since its opening in January 2001, the Fowler Center has quickly become the region's home for performance and visual arts presentations of the highest caliber, as well as for special civic and community events. Its location is just south of the Convocation Center.

Arkansas State University was established April 1, 1909, as a "public school of agriculture" by Act 100 of the Arkansas General Assembly. It was located at Jonesboro because citizens of the city bid $40,000 to the state and pledged 200 acres of land as a site.

After a century of growth, ASU-Jonesboro now has an annual budget of some $122.6 million, owns more than 3,000 acres of land in five different counties, has a physical plant valued at almost $200 million, and has an alumni roll exceeding 53,000.

ASU's rapid development over the years has been typical of other major universities in an emerging modern South. From an agricultural high school in 1909, to a junior college in 1918, to a four-year degree-granting institution in 1930, to a university in 1967, ASU has become regionally respected and nationally recognized for its qualities of teaching, research and service.

The ASU system includes campuses at Beebe (White County), Mountain Home (Baxter County), and Newport (Jackson County) where associate degree programs are offered, and at Marked Tree, Searcy and Heber Springs. A new campus is being built for ASU-Heber Springs. An instructional site is located at Paragould.

The Jonesboro campus, which occupies 942 acres amid the gentle slopes of Crowley's Ridge in east Jonesboro, is located between the vast and fertile Mississippi River Valley and the cultural and scenic richness of the Ozark Mountains.

More than 10,000 students annually work toward degrees in 141 areas of specialization at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Fifteen undergraduate degrees are offered through the Colleges of Agriculture, Business, Communications, Education, Engineering, Fine Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, Nursing and Health Professions, Sciences and Mathematics, and the University College. The Honors College was instituted July 1, 2004, evolving from the Honors Program.

The Arkansas Biosciences Institute opened in 2004. The $20 million facility is dedicated to multi-disciplinary research to fulfill purposes outlined in the Arkansas Tobacco Settlement.

CAMPUS LANDMARKS

(Above) The eight-story bell tower of the Dean B. Ellis Library, dedicated in 1995, is the focal point of the Arkansas State University campus.

(Right) ASU's Pavilion is the site of many student activities. A new Alumni Center was recently constructed across the pond from the Pavilion. The two sites form with ASU Stadium and the Convocation Center to create an exciting atmosphere on game days and nights.

Fifteen master's and two specialist degrees are offered, as well as doctoral degrees in educational leadership, environmental sciences, and heritage studies. Pre-professional programs are offered in nine areas.

The bachelor's degree programs with the most graduates are early childhood education, business administration, management information systems, accounting, nursing, agricultural business, and finance.

The top graduate programs, based on number of degrees awarded, are business administration, education administration-elementary principalship, reading education, educational administration-secondary principalship, communication disorders, nursing and physical therapy.

New academic programs are introduced as needed to respond to the rapid changes in our society. For instance, the athletic training program is the only such accredited program in the state. Academic strength has been enhanced with the Distance Learning Program which extends ASU's educational influence across the nation.

Also, ASU offers bachelor's and master's degree programs and upper level courses at ASU-Beebe, ASU-Mountain Home, and ASU degree centers in three Arkansas cities—Blytheville, Forrest City, and West Memphis—where partnership agreements have been established in cooperation with the community colleges in those cities.

ASU in Jonesboro has received the largest single donation in its history, a charitable gift of $14,508,342 from the Donald W. Reynolds Foundation. The gift was utilized to construct a three-story health sciences building (left) just northeast of the Student Union/Reng Student Services Center that will open in September.

The Donald W. Reynolds Center covers over 50,000 square feet and will house the Speech and Hearing Clinic, nursing and nurse anesthesia skills laboratories, large and small classrooms, computer lab, dedicated research spaces and special project rooms.

ASU offers challenging, fully-accredited programs and a prestigious 600-member faculty with a vast number holding doctorates from other major institutions. Some faculty are nationally known for teaching, research and service in the sciences, humanities and professional fields.

Arkansas State University's commitment to excellence in higher education is demonstrated by its accreditation by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association, as well as 18 specialized accrediting organizations.

ASU's reputation toward excellence has been established in part by student performance in national competition, such as a nationally ranked debate team, and by the success of its graduates. The underlying principle of learning at Arkansas State University is its tradition of changing to meet the needs of its students and the society in which they live and work.

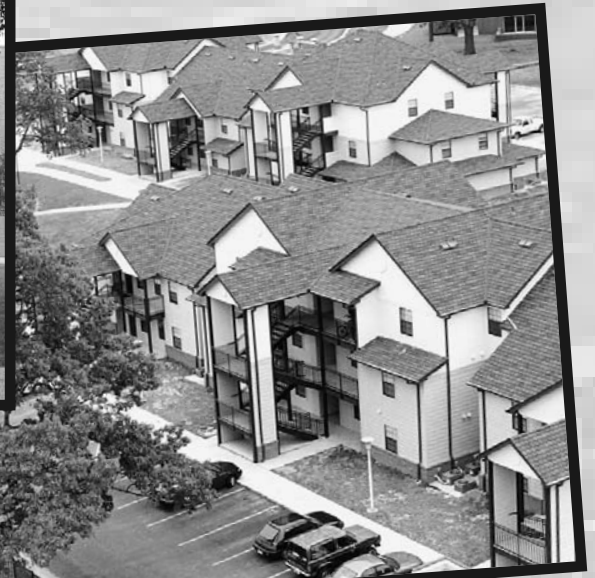

Arkansas State University continues to grow and prosper because the university plans ahead for the needs of students. A recent example is the Horizon Institute of Technology, created in the College of Business with a major gift from alumna Dr. Kathy Brittain White. The institute will provide opportunities for students, faculty, community and business leaders to expand their capabilities for providing solutions and increasing productivity with technology.

Arkansas State's new student union is identified by a new fountain. The fountain was provided by Chi Omega Sorority and serves as a beautiful landmark to enter the building.

The facade is composed of light-colored siding and dark trim around the windows and doors. A small sign in the foreground reads "MAGNOLIA".

The academic enterprise at ASU was enhanced with the addition of the $20 million Biosciences/Biotechnology Building. This facility was dedicated to multi-disciplinary research to fulfill purposes outlined in the Arkansas Tobacco Settlement.

The $29 million Student Union (left) and complete renovation of the existing Reng Center (left) houses a new dining hall, meeting facilities, bookstore, computer labs, a food court and other features. The Village Apartments (above) accommodates up to 100 families. Collegiate Park (at top) serves 336 students. The groundbreaking ceremony (top left) for the new Liberal Arts Building was recently held as well.

Arkansas State University is filled with friendly smiles, enthusiasm, and a thirst for learning. It's also filled with people who enjoy life and the joy and challenges it brings.

WELCOME TO ARKANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

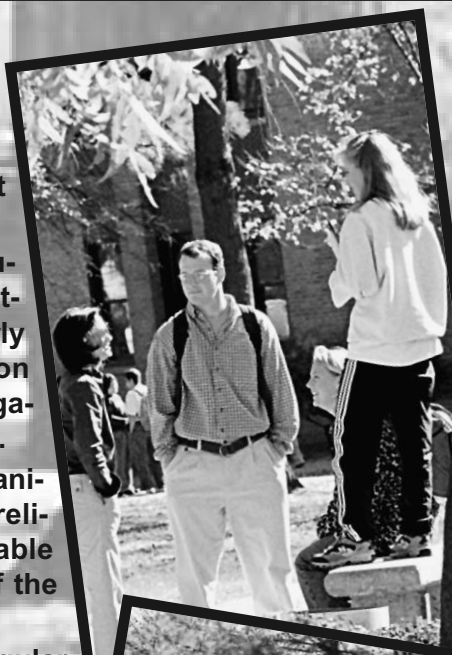

Life at Arkansas State University is exciting, youthful and vibrant. There is something always happening—with the students' best interests at heart.

Not only do all kinds of student events center around football and other sports, but nearly every academic discipline on campus offers societies or organizations to help spark interest.

More than 160 different organizations, including social and religious organizations, are available to promote personal growth of the individual.

On-campus concerts are regular events, as are cultural exhibits, plays, specialty shows and seminars. Competition is available through a challenging intramural program, and club sports are available.

Academically, there are plenty of quiet nooks all around campus for studying. At the same time, opportunities abound for recreation and relaxation. Campus life has it all at Arkansas State University.

A groundbreaking ceremony for the $18 million ASU Student Recreation and Wellness Center (above) was held April 4, 2008.

The facility is designed as a 74,000-square-foot structure that will house multiple amenities for students. This new recreation facility will have two levels and will be equipped to outfit an aquatics center in the future. The lower level will house approximately 17,000 square feet of cardiovascular and strength training equipment, three basketball/volleyball courts, one multipurpose activity court, office space, locker rooms, and wellness assessment rooms. The upper level will house a three-lane walking/running track, as well as meeting rooms and exercise classroom space. The Student Recreation and Wellness Center will be able to increase the number of fitness classes currently offered, as well as adding additional wellness and nutritional programming options.

Arkansas State University is growing and improving life for its students. A new student union has opened in the middle of campus.

It houses the most modern equipment including a new theater (left), eating areas, exercise equipment, study and rest areas.

Plenty of comfortable student housing is available, including the new 840-bed Residence Hall Community that opened in the fall of 2006 and even more student apartments planned to open in September 2009; Collegiate Park, just north of the Student Union; and Arkansas, Kays and University Halls.

ASU: WHERE CHAMPIONS ARE MADE

Arkansas State University has a longstanding saying: “Big enough to play your game, small enough to know your name.” The names of student-athletes are known all over the country for their contributions to their sport. Champions are made at ASU. Opportunities are provided for all 16 of ASU’s NCAA Division I sports. Just look at the names and numbers—12 Olympians, over 100 National Football League contracts, All-Americans, All-Conference, All-Academic. You name it . . . you can be it at Arkansas State. The people on these two pages prove it. They have excelled individually as well as with their teams. They not only represent themselves as champions but their school, community, friends, and family as well.

Senior Donald Boone ranked among the top in the Sun Belt Conference in scoring and steals during his junior campaign.

ASU multi athlete Amy Bowman qualified for the 2009 NCAA Outdoor Track & Field Regional in two events.

Ledyi Zora won over 20 matches last season as a sophomore to lead the team in victories.

ASU senior Jeremy Willis qualified for the at large pool in the pole vault for the 2009 NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Junior Shay Scott is currently ninth on the ASU all-time blocks chart. She also has 440 rebounds over the past two seasons and needs just one rebound to break into the top-20 all-time at Arkansas State.

Arkansas State University's athletic programs compete in top-of-the line facilities.

ASU Stadium, which opened in 1974, has evolved into a beautiful stadium which seats 30,406 fans. That includes a cluster of exclusive suites in the south end zone atop the football office complex. A million dollar video/scoreboard is the focal point in the stadium.

Coaches and student-athletes moved into a new $2.7 million track and field complex in spring 2004. It contains an eight-lane 400-meter track and can be set up for two NCAA venues.

Three local country clubs graciously allow ASU's men's and women's golf programs to utilize their facilities for practice and play.

J.A. "Ike" Tomlinson Stadium-Kell Field serves as home to Red Wolves baseball. Built in 1993, the stadium received complete lighting in 1996 and, most recently, 206 field level seats were added for the 2008 season.

ASU's newest women's program, bowling, competes in the Jonesboro Bowling Center, a 40-lane state-of-the-art facility.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS COMMITTEE

ASU President Dr. Les Wyatt announced the formation of the new Intercollegiate Athletics Committee in the spring of 1997.

The Intercollegiate Athletics Committee reviews and makes recommendations on issues involving the welfare of student-athletes, the role of athletics in campus life, and the athletics program's compliance with the university, conference, and NCAA regulations; serves as a search advisory committee for key athletics program personnel; reviews the role of existing and potential sports programs; and reviews the athletics budget. The committee reports to the chancellor.

Membership consists of four students appointed annually by the Student Government Association (one should be a student-athlete); four faculty appointed by the Faculty Senate (staggered two-year terms); one Faculty Athletic Representative appointed by the chancellor (two-year term); one executive staff member appointed by the chancellor (two-year term); the Dean of University College; two staff members appointed by the staff Senate (staggered two-year terms); Student Government Association and Student Activities Board presidents; and representatives from the following external organizations: Alumni Association, Red Wolf Club, Letterman's Club, and the Jonesboro Regional Chamber of Commerce ASU Committee. The Director of Intercollegiate Athletics and the senior woman athletic administrator serve as ex-officio, nonvoting members. The chancellor appoints a chair at the beginning of each academic year.

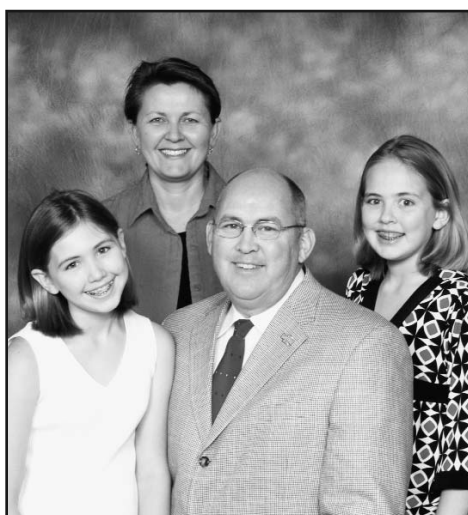

Robert L. Potts was appointed as the first chancellor of Arkansas State University-Jonesboro in November 2006. During his tenure, the university has recorded steady enrollment growth, reinvigorated its International Program, expanded distance learning opportunities and placed new emphasis on the institution's research mission. Recent campus construction projects include the Donald W. Reynolds Center for Health Sciences, which was made possible by the largest single gift in ASU history, the Delta Center for Economic Development, and a new 80,112 sq. ft. Student Recreation Center. Fall semester enrollment in 2008 was 11,490, and ASU-Jonesboro has more than 60,000 living alumni.

Chancellor Potts' current professional leadership activities include the board of directors of the Arkansas Research Alliance; the Commission on Lifelong Learning of the American Council on Education; the board of directors of Economics Arkansas; the executive council of the President's Council of the Arkansas Department of Higher Education; Arkansas Yellow Ribbon Task Force; and member of the Arkansas Academic Challenge Scholarship Advisory Council.

Potts has had a distinguished career in higher education, serving as the chancellor of the North Dakota University System before moving to Jonesboro. Previously, he served as president of the University of North Alabama. Earlier in his career, he served as general counsel for the University of Alabama System.

Potts attended Newbold College, Bracknell, Berkshire, England, and graduated cum laude from Southern Adventist University, Collegedale, Tenn., with a Bachelor of Arts degree. He thereafter graduated from the University of Alabama School of Law with a Juris Doctor degree, and served as an editor of the Alabama Law Review. He later graduated from Harvard University with a Master of Laws degree.

Robert Potts met his wife, Irene Elisabeth Johansson, a native of Sweden, while they were students in England. They are the parents of two adult children. Julie Anna Potts and her husband Parks Shackelford live in the Washington, D.C. area, where Julie Anna is general counsel for the American Farm Bureau Federation and Parks, a native of Jones, La., currently works for Florida Crystals, a sugar cane company. The couple are the parents of twin daughters, Ella and Olivia, and one son, Duke. Robert Leslie Potts, Jr. is employed as a financial analyst by Mississippi State University. Les Potts and his wife Holly are the parents of two daughters, Claire Elisabeth and Anna Leslie, and reside in Starkville, Mississippi.

The Lee Family

Dean and Diamond

When the Arkansas State University athletics program reaches its 100th birthday this year, Dean Lee's name will figure prominently in the celebration.

ASU athletics is entering its 100th year and Lee still has a little more time to continue restoring the old and building new tradition for Arkansas State.

Under Lee's direction, the ASU athletic department enjoyed another significant year in 2008-09. Not only did ASU enjoy some of the most exciting moments ever on the fields, courts, and tracks, but also in the arenas of academics, donor and alumni involvement, community service and achievement.

The 2008 AAFF's Outstanding Athletic Director, Lee serves on the NCAA Men's Basketball Issues Committee, the BCS Athletic Directors Advisory Committee and the Division 1A Athletic Directors Association Board of Trustees.

He has guided the athletic department to annual success academically and competitively, but last year ASU athletics once again enjoyed growth through a number of unique accomplishments and projects as well.

For instance, the ASU Athletic Department received the largest single donation in its history, a $400,000 gift from Charles Luter that will be used to enhance the athletic academic facility. ASU secured an unprecedented $1 million contract for its Sept. 4, 2010 football game at Auburn, the Red Wolves set a school-record in football attendance, festivities such as Jazz in Jonesboro continued to grow and improve, the bowling team made its second straight appearance in the NCAA National Championships and two student-athletes were named Academic All-America as well. His vision for ASU Athletics was revealed in a video called "Inside A-State Athletics, which focuses on the Red Wolves athletic programs and how the athletic department plans to meet challenges in the future.

As recent as 2008, 206 field-level seats and new party boxes available for corporate events were added to Tomlinson Stadium, the Convocation Center weight room underwent major renovations that included new weights and cardio equipment and Lee was instrumental in the recruitment and hiring of John Brady, who was just two years removed from an NCAA Final Four appearance, as the Red Wolves new men's basketball coach.

Those are just a few of the many ways the ASU athletic department has continued to develop under Lee, who is always looking for new and creative ways to take the Red Wolves athletic program to the next level while maintaining its main focus on academics, competitive performance and a well-rounded environment for student-athletes.

Entering his eighth year as Director of Athletics, Lee is even hungrier for ASU to have continued success in all areas. He has already made great strides in enabling Arkansas State's Department of Athletics to become one of the most respected programs around.

Dr. Lee became ASU's 10th Director of Athletics July 9, 2002. It wasn't long before the department began to experience important and progressive changes which were capped by an unprecedented "State of A-State" address in the spring of 2004.

When he concluded the address to a packed house, there was no mistaking that he is committed to building a successful program at ASU.

In a very short time, he has orchestrated sellout and capacity crowds, overseen the expansion and growth of ASU's athletic facilities, and provided sound leadership to both the athletic staff and population of student-athletes.

Lee came to ASU from Oklahoma State University, where he was the Associate Director of Athletics for External Operations.

His administrative experience at two NCAA Division I-A universities, OSU and the University of Arkansas, and his achievements in mobilizing financial support make him well-suited for Arkansas State University and Northeast Arkansas. While at the University of Arkansas, Lee served as the Vice President of the Razorback Foundation.

In addition, Dr. Lee's experience as athletic director at Arkansas Tech University and his familiarity with ASU and the state of Arkansas help him feel right at home.

He earned his bachelor's degree in 1979 and master's in education at Henderson State University, then completed his doctor of education degree at the University of Arkansas in 1989.

Although born in Tulsa, Okla., Lee competed in high school sports in Berryville, Arkansas, and was selected to play in the all-Star basketball and football games in 1975.

He also played basketball, baseball and tennis at Henderson State, where he later served as an assistant coach. He played in two national championship games as a member of Henderson State's basketball team. He was head basketball coach at Malvern High School early in his career.

Dean and wife Reba are the parents of two daughters, Diamond Olivia (14) and Anna Pearl (12).

Jonesboro, home of Arkansas State University, weighs in as the largest city in Northeast Arkansas. As a matter of fact, if you form a triangle by connecting Little Rock, St. Louis and Memphis, Jonesboro stands out as the largest metropolitan city in what amounts to a 17,000 square mile triangular area.

Jonesboro is a great city of 60,000, and is always ready to welcome incoming ASU students from the moment they arrive in town. The booming community has matured over the past half century into a regional center for cultural, educational, industrial, commercial, agricultural, communication, transportation, recreational and medical interests. It contains almost every convenience of a big city and every comfort of a small town.

The community is alive with cultural events such as the art exhibitions, theatrical and musical productions, not only on campus but in the city itself through the Jonesboro Fine Arts Council, NEA Foundation of Arts, the Forum and the Northeast Arkansas Symphony. One highlight is the annual Hispanic celebration when downtown Main Street is transformed into a festive explosion of Hispanic music, food and cultural activity.

Memphis is less than an hour away from the ASU campus.

Jonesboro is also the medical hub of northeast Arkansas and southeast Missouri, with two major hospitals and countless medical professionals. The city is also a shopping mecca, offering a modern business district as well as quaint downtown antique shops and restaurants. The $100 million Mall at Turtle Creek recently opened with more than 100 stores.

One of the five largest cities in Arkansas, Jonesboro is located between the vast and fertile Mississippi River and the cultural and scenic richness of the Ozark Mountains. It is nestled about 70 miles west of Memphis, Tennessee, on the gentle slopes of Crowley's Ridge.

Jonesboro is a comfortable one hour drive from Memphis, two hours from Little Rock and four hours from St. Louis. The city and University have meshed resources in recent years and have truly become the "capital" of the northeast quadrant of the state.

Northeast Arkansas is a recreation haven for the person who enjoys water sports, fishing, hunting, and boating as well as the joys of unspoiled nature. Jonesboro and the surrounding area have an abundance of lakes, rivers, ponds, streams and forests to serve as nature's playgrounds for the avid outdoors person.

And, Jonesboro, ranked by Forbes.com as the 27th "best small place to live" is a nice place to call home.

... More About Jonesboro
