FACILITIES : Media facilities at Tomlinson Stadium consist of a press box on the upper level of the stands behind home plate for reporters, broadcasters and photographers as well as space for a television crew. Space is extremly limited within in the press box, so if you plan on attending an event please contact Dennen Cuthbertson in advance so arrangements can be made.

CREDENTIALS: Credentials for home games are provided to those members of the media who are covering the game in a full working capacity. Requests with names should be submitted in writing on company letterhead. Passes will be mailed to valid applicants as long as time permits; otherwise, passes may be claimed at the main gate to Tomlinson Stadium. Spouses, dates, children and non-workers are NOT permitted in the media areas. Passes must be displayed at all times, and A-State reserves the right to revoke passes and privileges at any time due to misrepresentation or misconduct. Requests for road-game credentials should be made to the SID of the host institution.

GAME SERVICES: Notes, programs, media guides and statistic packets are provided to media personnel by the Media Relations Office. Soft drinks and water will be available to members of the media during the game along with a voucher to the concession stand. The press box telephone number is (870) 972-2541.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Certified photographers of newspapers, magazines, wire services and TV stations must request passes in writing. No credentials will be issued to freelance photographers.

INTERVIEWS: The head coach will be available for interviews in the press box after each game, following a brief team meeting. A-State student-athletes will also be available by request at this time. The locker room is closed to the media following games. To arrange for a student-athlete interview during the week, contact Dennen Cuthbertson, Assistant Media Relations Director at (870) 972-3383 or mcuthbertson@astate.edu. All interviews must be approved by the head coach.

INJURY INFORMATION POLICY: A student-athlete's protected health information is protected by federal regulations under either the Health Information Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) or the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (the Buckley Amendment) and may not be disclosed without either the student-athlete's authorization under HIPAA or their consent under the Buckley Amendment. Authorized/consented injury information pertaining to a student-athlete shall be released to the media through the Sports Information Department after being authorized by the athletic trainer. It is also appropriate in post-game or weekly press conferences-for head coaches to announce team injury updates. Team physicians may be available to offer explanation on injuries if requested by the athletic trainer. Any dugout or locker room report made to the media shall be made by an athletic trainer, team physician, or a sports information staff representative.

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Contact Dennen Cuthbertson, Media Relations Information Director at (870) 972-2541, cgraddy@astate,edu, or write Media Relations Office, P.O. Box 1000, State University, Ark., 72467. Overnight mail can be sent to Media Relations Office, Convocation Center, 217 Olympic Drive, Jonesboro, Ark., 72401.

RADIO: Radio broadcasts of Red Wolves baseball will be on the EAB Red Wolves Sports Network and will also be available over the Internet. Matt Stolz is the "Voice of the Red Wolves". The visiting team's official radio station, as designated by the visitors' SID, will be permitted origination privileges. A courtesy line will be available at no charge. Any questions regarding broadcasts or the use of facilities should be directed to Dennen Cuthbertson, Assistant Media Relations Director.

WEB ACCESS: In addition, schedules, rosters, statistics, bios, etc. are available on the official A-State athletics website. Access the site at www.AstateRedWolves.com and then click on baseball.

Tommy Raffo

HEAD COACH • 10TH SEASON
CAREER RECORD: 258-256-1 (.502)
CAREER SBC RECORD: 128-137-1 (.483)

Tommy Raffo was named head coach of the Red Wolves baseball team on July 1, 2008. He has accumulated a 258-256-1 record during his tenure as the head coach of Arkansas State. Additionally, he has compiled a 16-14 record in the Sun Belt Conference Tournament after the program was a combined 1-18 in the event from 1999 until his arrival.

Raffo became the fifth head coach in the history of the A-State baseball program after serving as an assistant coach at Mississippi State from 1994-2008. During his time at Mississippi State, he served as the hitting and outfield coach for a Bulldog program that made three trips to the College World Series. Under his direction, the Bulldogs posted a team batting average of .300 or better in eight of 11 seasons.

Now entering his 10th season as head baseball coach at Arkansas State, Raffo has revived the Red Wolves baseball program. He has had 14 players drafted since arriving in 2009 and has sent 17 players play in the minor leagues. The Red Wolves had four players drafted in 2015 to tie the school record for most players drafted in a single MLB draft with the 1995 squad. David Owen was the top draft pick of the class in the 19th round, while Stuart Levy was taken in the 27th round. Chandler Hawkins (33rd round) and Zach George (35th round) were A-State's other two draft picks. Bradley Wallace became the second-highest draft pick in school history when he was taken with the 307th pick in the 10th round by the Tampa Bay Rays in 2014, while Daniel Wright and Logan Uxa were each taken by the Cincinnati Reds in 2013. Jacob Lee became the school's highest draft pick in 2012 when he was taken in the ninth round by the Cleveland Indians before Tyler Zuber unseated him by being selected in the sixth round by the Kansas City Royals.

The 2017 team finished with an overall record of 28-27 to claim the program's first winning season since 2014 and won two games in the Sun Belt Conference Tournament for the eighth straight season, the only team in the league to accomplish that feat. The Red Wolves posted a 17-12 record at home, including wins over No. 24 Louisiana Tech, a series victory over Cincinnati, and a win over Ole Miss at home for the second straight season. The 5-0 win over the Rebels was the first shutout over Ole Miss in school history.

The Red Wolves went on a season-high five-game win streak late in the season beginning the win over Ole Miss followed by two memorable victories over Little Rock to claim the seventh seed in the SBC Tournament. The Red Wolves and Trojans played an 18-inning contest May 18 with A-State winning 9-8 in a game that tied for the longest in Division I in 2017 and was the second longest game in school history. The next day the team put up 19 runs in a 19-2 victory to sweep the Trojans in the two-game set.

The final two games of that win streak came in the SBC Tournament when A-State began with a 21-4 win over Georgia State. The 21 runs were the most since in a game since 2014 and the second most in Sun Belt Conference Tournament history. The Red Wolves followed with a 4-2 win over West Division Champion UT Arlington to advance to the semifinals before losing to eventual champion South Alabama.

The squad's offense set the school record for hit-by-pitches with 100 and also tied for the most home runs during the Raffo era with 34. The team had the highest runs per game (6.02) and RBI per game (5.40) this season in the BBCOR bat era, which began in 2011. The offense also stole 62 bases which was just one away from tying the most during the Raffo era. Additionally, the A-State pitching staff accumulated 462 strikeouts in 2017, which is the second most during Raffo's tenure. Joe Schrimpf became the program's all-time leader in career RBI with 146 and also set the school record for sacrifice bunts in a career. Schrimpf's name is dotted among the top 10 in a host of other categories including career hits, walks, total bases, hit-by-pitches, at-bats, and triples.

A-State overcame a handful of injuries to put up a 29-29 record during the 2016 season, including winning two games in the SBC Tournament for the seventh straight year, the only team in the league to do so. The Red Wolves began the Sun Belt slate with a 4-11 record, but rebounded with a 9-6 mark down the stretch to claim the eighth spot in the conference tournament.

The team also claimed a victory over No. 6 Ole Miss in its final home and nonconference game of the year May 17 with a 8-6 triumph over the Rebels. The team also rallied for two victories over Little Rock late in the year with nine runs over the final two innings in a 12-10 win May 20 and an eight-run ninth inning May 21 in a 15-11 victory.

The A-State offense broke the school record for triples with 22, a mark that had stood since 1949 when that team hit 20. The team knocked in 303 runs, which is the second most during the Raffo era and eighth most in school history. The squad hit 33 home runs for the second most during Raffo's tenure and had a .387 slugging percentage, good for third highest under Raffo.

The 2016 version of the Red Wolves saw Tanner Ring earn First-Team All-SBC honors at third base, while Joe Schrimpf picked up Second-Team All-Conference recognition as an utility player. It was the first time since 2012 that A-State placed multiple players on the All-SBC teams.

The 2015 season was a bit of a roller coaster for Arkansas State with the team starting out 14-20 before Raffo took over the offense for the team's final 23 games and saw the team finish strongly with a 13-10 record to end the season at 27-30. A-State won two games in the Sun Belt Conference Tournament for the sixth straight season and remains the only SBC school to accomplish that feat.

A-State had some early season success as the team went 7-3 in its first 10 games, including winning two out of three games against No. 7 Louisville, marking the first time the Red Wolves had won a road series against a ranked opponent since taking two of three games against No. 18 Western Kentucky in 2010. A-State capped off those first ten games with a sweep of NCAA Tournament participant Houston Baptist in Houston.

However, the conference season proved to be a tough go with A-State starting out 5-15 in SBC play before rallying to earn the eighth and final seed in the conference tournament by winning seven of its final nine league games. The Red Wolves also had to deal with terrible weather throughout the season as the team had 26 of its 57 games altered in some form or fashion by inclement weather.

Zach George became the team's first All-American position player, and second player overall, in the Raffo era in 2015 and first position player since Josh Yates in 2007. George led the nation in on-base percentage at .548 and led the conference in batting average (.399), hits (81), walks (52), and doubles (22) to earn ABCA and Louisville Slugger Third-Team All-American honors. He was also a finalist for the Gregg Olson Breakout Player of the Year award.

The Red Wolves experienced a number of "firsts" in 2014 as the program went to its fifth straight Sun Belt Conference tournament and won at least two games in the postseason for the fifth straight season. Raffo guided his squad to a 32-27 overall record and an 18-12 mark in league play, earning the No. 3 seed in the SBC Tournament and advanced to the semifinals for the second straight season.

A-State defeated the second ranked team in the nation (Louisiana-Lafayette) 6-4 at home on March 4, marking the highest ranked opponent the team had ever played and defeated at Tomlinson Stadium. The Red Wolves also set a new attendance record when a crowd of 1,143 was on hand to watch Arkansas State take on Ole Miss on May 13.

The 2014 campaign also saw several players set career milestones, including David Owen who was named to the Gregg Olson Breakout Player of the Year watch list. Dustin Jones became the school's all-time leader in games played with 228 and Chandler Hawkins spun a gem in the SBC Tournament with a complete game shutout in an elimination game.

Raffo, who also coached the corner infielders, helped the Red Wolves' achieve the highest fielding percentage in school history at .974. A-State committed just 57 errors during the season, the second fewest in the Sun Belt Conference.

In 2013 he led A-State to its fourth straight appearance in the Sun Belt Conference tournament and the Red Wolves are the only team to have at least two games in the tournament during that span. Raffo perhaps faced his toughest task in 2013 as the Red Wolves were plagued by injuries and were forced to adjust their lineup throughout the year. After finding form near the end of the regular season, Raffo's squad finished with a 28-31 overall record and a 12-18 mark in conference play.

After a loss to Troy on the first day of the SBC Tournament, A-State bounced back to defeat Western Kentucky and then knocked out the Trojans in an elimination match. Raffo also helped several players reach career milestones, including Ryan Emery who became the school's all-time leader in walks and finished among the top five in career RBIs at the school.

In 2012 he led Arkansas State to a 34-23 record and a 19-9 record in Sun Belt Conference play. A-State finished second overall in the SBC and the 34 victories were the most for any team in the Sun Belt Conference and are the most in Raffo's tenure. A-State's 34 victories are also the most since winning 35 games in 1997 and the fourth-most in school history.

A-State advanced to the championship game of the SBC Tournament for the first time since 1996. Raffo was named the SBC Coach of the Year, while senior pitcher Jacob Lee earned SBC Pitcher of the Year honors. Closer John Koch and shortstop Dustin Jones were also All-SBC second-team selections.

Under Raffo's direction, A-State ended the 2011 season with an overall winning record (30-28) for the first time since 2005 and finished above .500 in Sun Belt Conference play (16-14) for the first time since 1998. Arkansas State not only made its first appearance in the Sun Belt Conference Tournament since 2006, but was one victory away from playing in the tournament's championship game. The Red Wolves advanced to the semifinals, enjoying their best run in the tournament since 1996.

In 2010, the Red Wolves finished with second-highest team batting average in school history (.312) and recorded the most hits (647) and third most RBIs (345) in school history.

Raffo led the Red Wolves to a 23-30 record in 2009, and although Arkansas State missed the Sun Belt Conference tournament by one-half game, the team showed a great deal of improvement over the previous season. The Red Wolves won 12 Sun Belt Conference games in Raffo's first season, up from just eight the year before, and A-State's overall record showed an improvement of three wins over the 2008 season. Arkansas State earned conference victories over Louisiana-Lafayette, Louisiana-Monroe, South Alabama and UALR.

The Red Wolves raised their team batting average an impressive 36 points over the previous season, finishing the year with a team average of .296. Five players hit .300 or better, compared to just one in the previous season, with one, sophomore Murray Watts earning All-Conference honors at the conclusion of the season. All-Conference selection Chase Ware helped keep the Red Wolves strong on the mound in 2009, and Ware signed with the Cincinnati Reds organization at the conclusion of the season.

During his 15 seasons at Mississippi State, Raffo served as the recruiting coordinator for the Bulldog baseball program, landing 10 straight recruiting classes ranked in the top 33 nationally by Collegiate Baseball. He coached seven All-America players and four Academic All-Americans. He was named as the 2007 Southeastern Conference Fellowship of Christian Athletes Coach of the Year, and during his time at MSU, 49 Bulldogs were chosen in the Major League Baseball Draft.

Raffo's outstanding recruiting at MSU paid dividends for the program as he helped the Bulldogs reach the SEC Tournament 12 times, with two championships to their credit. Mississippi State also made 11 appearances in the NCAA Tournament during Raffo's time with the program, winning five regional titles. The Bulldogs made three appearances in the NCAA Super Regionals and advanced to the College World Series in 1997, 1998 and 2007. Raffo coached one Johnny Bench Award winner, given annually to the top college catcher in the country, and helped seven hitters finish the season in the SEC's top five batting averages.

As a player, Raffo was co-captain of the 1990 Mississippi State team that advanced to the College World Series. He was a two-time Academic All-American and a three-time Academic All-SEC selection. He was named first-team All-SEC in 1989 and 1990, and in 1990 earned second-team All-America honors from both the American Baseball Coaches Association and Baseball America.

After earning his Bachelors of Business Administration Degree from Mississippi State in 1990, he was chosen by the Miami Miracle with the first pick of the eighth round in the 1990 MLB Draft. While playing in the Reds organization, he was the MVP of the 1991 South Atlantic League All-Star Game, and was Co-Captain of the 1992 Midwest League Champion Cedar Rapid Reds.A native of Orange Park, Fla., Raffo is married to the former Paula Hawkins of Calhoun City, Miss., and they are the parents of two daughters, Claudia Elizabeth and Anna Winifred and a son, Thomas Hanniford "Ford."

Rick Guarno

ASSISTANT COACH/RECRUITING COORDINATOR • FIRST SEASON

Rick Guarno was hired as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Arkansas State on July 21, 2017.

Guarno most recently served as the hitting coach and recruiting coordinator for the Skyhawks for the past three seasons, which coincided with some of the best seasons in school history. UT Martin won 30 Ohio Valley Conference games during his tenure for the most OVC wins in a three-year span in school history. Last season, UTM won 25 games, which were the most in the Division-I Era (since 1992) for the program and qualified for the OVC Tournament for just the third time in school history.

The 2017 version of Guarno's offense ranked in UT Martin's top-five in single-season history in hits (569, third), home runs (43, third), total bases (833, third), doubles (105, fourth), walks (205, fourth) and triples (15, fifth). He also helped Connor Aube earn Freshman All-American honors from Collegiate Baseball after successfully recruiting him to UTM.

The Skyhawks' offense in 2016 set the school record for walks with 231, while recording the most runs scored (340), hits (554), doubles (106) and RBI (318) since 2010. His first season with the program in 2015 saw UT Martin nearly double its home run total from the previous year with 39, which was fourth most in school history. Guarno was also responsible for recruiting two All-OVC Freshman Team players, UT Martin's all-time career saves leader (Patrick Bernard), one high school Preseason All-American, and one high school All-American during his time with the university.

Prior to his time at UT Martin, Guarno served as the recruiting coordinator for current UTM head coach Rick Robinson at Young Harris College in Young Harris, Ga. During his two seasons at the school he coached five All-Conference players, one All-American, and one Academic All-American. The All-American was Zach Bricknell, who hit a school record 22 home runs and led the nation.

The 2014 version of the Mountain Lions' offense ranked fifth nationally in home runs per game (1.0), seventh in home runs (50), 18th in walks (216), 25th in scoring per game (7.1 runs), and 26th in slugging percentage (.444). The offense in Guarno's first season in 2013 led the nation in home runs per game (1.4), ranked second in home runs (66), seventh in slugging percentage (.493), 17th in scoring per game (7.6 runs), and 27th in runs scored (366).

Before his time at Young Harris, Guarno spent the 2011 and 2012 campaigns at his alma mater, the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. In 2012, he helped the Trojans set program records for most home runs and triples in a single season. The Trojans ranked first in the nation in home runs per game (1.22), third in slugging percentage (.477) and sixth in scoring (7.4 runs per game). In 2011, he was part of the staff that led the Trojans to a 2011 Sun Belt Conference Tournament championship and the program's first-ever NCAA Regional appearance.

Working primarily with the catchers at UALR, Guarno coached All-Sun Belt first-team catchers Myles Parma, Nick Rountree and Blake Johnson. Parma hit a team-best .350 with a .439 on-base percentage in 2011 while Rountree belted a team-high seven homers to go along with 14 doubles and 35 RBI in 2011. Johnson hit .314 with 14 doubles and six home runs in 2012. In total, five players achieved All-SBC status during his tenure, with two being named to ABCA All-Region teams, and Sean Bignall being named a semifinalist for the Dick Howser Trophy and Golden Spikes Award.

A catcher by trade, Guarno was drafted by the Colorado Rockies in the fourth round (107th overall) of the 2003 Major League Baseball Draft. He played seven seasons of professional baseball, earning a call-up to Triple-A Colorado Springs in 2008 after tallying a .290 batting average and .342 on-base percentage with five homers and 15 RBI, in 27 games at Double-A Tulsa. He played in 24 games at the Triple-A level and hit seven doubles, two triples, a home run, and drove in 10 runs.

All in all, Guarno hit .252 with 56 doubles, 15 long balls, and 108 RBI in six seasons of affiliated baseball in the Rockies' organization. He ended his professional baseball career with the Calgary Vipers of the independent Golden League. He hit .308 with 27 doubles, nine homers, and 53 RBI to help the Vipers win the league championship.

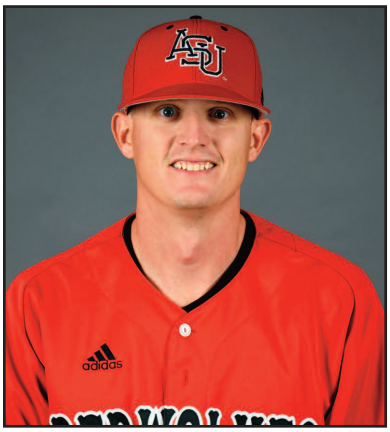

Guarno played his last season of collegiate baseball at UALR before being drafted after his junior year. He picked up All-Sun Belt first-team accolades and second-team ABCA Rawlings All-South Central Region honors in 2003. He started 55 games at catcher as a junior, hitting .344 with 27 doubles, 54 runs scored, 48 RBI's and a .555 slugging percentage.

A native of Syracuse, N.Y., Guarno began his collegiate career at the University of Maryland Baltimore County, where he was a two-year starter at catcher and in the corner outfield. He hit .342 as a freshman to help the Retrievers advance to the 2001 NCAA Regional. He followed with a solid sophomore campaign when he registered a .323 batting average with 10 doubles to help UMBC to a 20-7 conference record and a Northeast Conference championship game appearance.

Guarno attended Bishop Kearney High School in Rochester, NY, where he was a two-time City-Catholic League All-Star. He ranked seventh in his graduating class and was a member of the National Honor Society. He graduated from UALR in 2012 with a bachelor's degree in liberal arts.

Guarno is married to the former Amanda Harrison of Conway, Ark., and the couple has one son, Coy.

Rowdy Hardy

ASSISTANT COACH/PITCHING COACH • FIRST SEASON

Rowdy Hardy was named the pitching coach for the Arkansas State baseball program on Monday, July 17, 2017.

Hardy began his coaching career at NMMI in July 2012 and has spent the last five seasons with the Broncos under head coach and former A-State assistant coach Chris Cook. Prior to his time at NMMI he completed a six-year stint in the minor leagues split between the Kansas City Royals and Atlanta Braves organizations.

A native of Bethel Springs, Tenn., Hardy has helped over 80 percent of New Mexico Military Institute players continue their careers after playing at the junior college located in Roswell, N.M., with 22 going on to compete for Division I schools. He helped pitchers Jeremy Mortensen (2014) and Carlos Ortiz (2016) earn First-Team All-Conference honors, while another 10 earned honorable mention selections during his tenure including Parker Bateman in 2017.

Additionally, the 2016 version Broncos went to the NJCAA Region V tournament for the program's first regional appearance since 1961. The team picked up 28 victories with 22 coming in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference (WJCAC), both of which are school records. Hardy's pitchers set the walk-to-strikeout ratio school record in 2016 after setting records for saves, strikeouts, strikeouts per inning in the 2015 campaign.

Hardy enjoyed a successful minor league career with the Kansas City Royals in 2006 after completing his collegiate career at Austin Peay. The left-handed pitcher registered a 40-32 record in his career with a 3.30 ERA with 403 strikeouts against 121 walks in 648.2 innings. He was named the Royals' Organizational Pitcher of the Year in 2007 after posting a 15-5 record with a 2.48 ERA in 167 innings with 91 punch outs against 16 free passes for Class-A Advanced Wilmington.

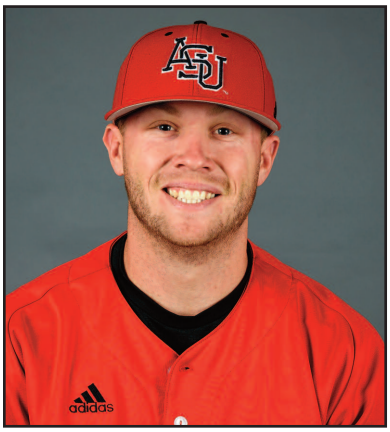

He advanced to Double-A with the Royals before being selected by the Braves in the minor league portion of the Rule 5 Draft prior to the 2011 season. He played most of the season in Double-A, but did throw 7.2 scoreless innings for Triple-A Gwinnett before his career came to a close.

The hurler enjoyed a fantastic career for Austin Peay during his collegiate years from 2004-06 as evidenced by his induction into the APSU Hall of Fame in 2016. Hardy's name can be found on the Governors' Top 10 season and career lists 21 times with top marks in wins (32) and walks per nine innings (1.74). Additionally, the 32 victories are the most in Ohio Valley Conference history.

Hardy was named the 2004 OVC Rookie of the Year and was a Louisville Slugger Third-Team All-American selection that season. He followed his sophomore campaign with a Second-Team All-American nod and led the Governors to their first NCAA Tournament bid since 1996. He concluded his career with another All-OVC selection as a senior and posted his career-best ERA (2.58).

Hardy is married to his wife, Megan, and has a son, Inning, and daughter, Bea.

Craig Massoni

VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH • FIRST SEASON

Craig Massoni was named the Red Wolves' volunteer assistant coach Wednesday, Sept. 6, 2017.

A native of Danville, Calif., Massoni played at Chabot College in Hayward, Calif., before transferring to Austin Peay State. He played one year for the Governors, but it was a memorable one as he helped the squad to a 47-15 record and berth in the NCAA Tournament. The Govs won two games in the tournament before being eliminated.

Massoni spent the majority of his time at first base and earned the Ohio Valley Conference Player of the Year award after his lone season in Clarksville, Tenn. He finished the 2013 campaign with a team-high .385 batting average and .475 on-base percentage. Additionally, he led the team in home runs (16), RBI (68), total bases (158), and slugging percentage (.661) on his way to claiming Second-Team All-American honors from Louisville Slugger.

Following his excellent year at Austin Peay, the San Francisco Giants drafted Massoni in the 33rd round of the MLB Draft. He spent two seasons in the Giants' organization, posting a .258 batting average with a .366 on-base percentage, before moving on to play three seasons of independent ball. His best season was in 2015 when he recorded a .289 batting average and .395 on-base percentage for the Gateway Grizzlies of the Frontier League.

Jen Taft

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH • SECOND SEASON

Jen Taft took over as the strength and conditioning coach for the Arkansas State baseball program prior to the 2017 season.

A native of Fort Smith, Ark., Taft helped train a team that hit 34 home runs to tie for the most during head coach Tommy Raffo's tenure and steal 62 bases, which was one off the most under Coach Raffo. Additionally, the team had the highest runs per game (6.02) and RBI per game (5.40) during the 2017 campaign in the BBCOR bat era, which began in 2011.

The 2017 version of the Red Wolves that Taft helped train went on to go 28-27 during the season to give the team its first winning season since 2014. Her expertise helped the team to the Sun Belt Conference Tournament semifinals for the eighth straight season, the only team in the league to accomplish that feat.

Coach J.A. "Ike" Tomlinson

Named for A-State pioneer J.A. 'Ike' Tomlinson, and Major League Baseball Hall of Famer George Kell, Tomlinson Stadium & Kell Field was opened in 1993. The complex includes Tomlinson Stadium & Kell Field as well as the baseball offices and indoor workout facilities for Arkansas State baseball.

"Coach Ike" as Tomlinson was known to his former players and ASU fans, was primarily responsible for the rebirth of ASU Athletics following the end of World War II. He coached numerous programs, including baseball, and served as the school's athletic director. He was a part of ASU Athletics for almost six decades, and the school honored him in 1993 by placing his name on the new baseball facility.

Kell, a native of Swifton (Ark.), was elected to the MLB Hall of Fame in 1983, and has been an active supporter of Arkansas State baseball for many years. Kell edged out Ted Williams for the 1949 MLB batting title, going 2-for-3 on the final day of the season, while Williams was hitless in two at-bats. Kell's final mark on the season was .3429, while Williams posted a .3427 average. He was a 10-time American League All-Star who hit over .300 in eight consecutive seasons. Kell twice led the American League in hits and in doubles, and in the late 1940's and early 1950's, he was regarded as the best third baseman in the American League.

ASU has continued making improvements to the facility, including work in the dugout and indoor facility as well as increasing the school's colors of Scarlet and Black around the complex. Also, a batter's eye was added as well as retractable indoor and all-weather batting cages. Prior to the 2007 season, the Barton's Baseball Deck picnic area was added, and prior to the 2008 season over 200 field-level seats were added. Along with the new seating, which includes 26 handicap-accessible seating areas, are new party boxes which are available for groups and corporate events, new backstop netting, and new, precision-leveled infield turf.

The Legacy Walk was also created prior to the 2008 season to recognize friends of ASU Baseball for their contributions to the program. Prior to the beginning of the 2017 season updates to the indoor and outdoor batting cages were made.

Lights were installed at the stadium, and Arkansas State hosted its first night baseball games in the 1996 season, thanks in part to the donations and support of many Indian baseball fans.

Tomlinson Stadium-Kell Field has a natural grass surface, and the outfield dimensions are 335 feet down the left and right field lines, 370 to the power alleys and 400 to straightaway centerfield. The outfield wall is eight feet high.

Already a long-time leader in innovation and progressive thinking in the world of intercollegiate athletics, the Sun Belt Conference also continues to establish itself as a force to be reckoned with on the playing field.

The Sun Belt is in its fifth decade as a vibrant and vigorous part of the collegiate landscape, and has never shied away from taking a leadership role among conferences in its efforts to provide better experiences for its member schools, its student-athletes and coaches, and for its fans and followers. After all, this is the league that inaugurated college basketball's shot clock and was the first to partner with a fledgling cable television entity whose ESPN moniker was unknown at the time.

Innovation is a great thing, but the just-completed 2016-17 athletic season also showed that the Sun Belt Conference takes a back seat to no other league in its competitive balance and in proving itself deserving of its status a member of the NCAA's highest conference tier.

At no time was league athletic success more obvious than during the 2016 football season, when the Sun Belt broke out and fulfilled much of the promise that league founders and its members envisioned when the league inaugurated the sport just after the new millennium.

Last season, Sun Belt members participated in six bowl games, a 50 percent increase in the league's former high-water mark and only a decade removed from a "one-bowl league" moniker in its formative years. More importantly, Sun Belt teams didn't just get to bowl games; they won them, again in record numbers.

The league finished 4-2 in the postseason, with more bowl wins than leagues such as the Big Ten and Pac-12. Only two leagues (the ACC and the SEC) won more games, and only the ACC's 8-3 bowl record ranked higher than the Sun Belt's winning percentage. Had ACC member Clemson not won the College Football Playoff Championship game, the Sun Belt would have shared the country's best bowl win ratio.

The Sun Belt also had the most wins and best win percentage among the "Group of Five" peer conferences, including victories over teams in the two top-rated leagues in the final computer rankings.

"The bowl season definitely validated the very strong regular season that we had," said Sun Belt commissioner Karl Benson. "It proved what we've been saying all along. The overall credibility of the Sun Belt is on the rise, and our members and fans that have been expecting to see positive results out of the league are now seeing that."

The postseason wins by Arkansas State over Central Florida in the AutoNation Cure Bowl, Appalachian State over Toledo in the Raycom Media Camellia Bowl, Troy over Ohio in the Dollar General Bowl and Idaho over Colorado State in the Famous Idaho Potato Bowl helped the league double its previous single-season bowl victory high (two). Appearances by Louisiana in the R+L Carriers New Orleans Bowl - a bowl partner of the Sun Belt for the 16th straight year - and by South Alabama in the NOVA Home Loans Arizona Bowl helped make the Sun Belt a highly visible part of the bowl season.

The wins by Appalachian State and Arkansas State on the Dec. 17 start of bowl season meant the Sun Belt had matched its previous record for bowl wins by sundown on opening day.

"Our teams stepped up this year," Benson said. "To go from two bowl games to five bowl tie-ins in a five-year period, for our teams to deliver like they have, and to throw television in there for the huge growth of people watching Sun Belt football, we had a banner year and it all came to a pinnacle in the bowl season."

The bowl success was the crowning jewel of a season full of football successes for a conference that only began the sport in the 2001 season and became the first and still only already-existing league to inaugurate football. The Sun Belt ranked third in the final conference computer rankings among the "Group of Five" - ranking well ahead of the Mid-American Conference and Conference USA, and giving the league a significant financial boost through payouts from the College Football Playoff. The league also moved into third among the five in the four-year average computer ranking of conferences.

Troy became the first league school to crack the Associated Press Football Top 25 during the season, reaching No. 25 on Nov. 14 as part of a five-win improvement over 2015. South Alabama also provided a milestone with a victory over a nationally-ranked opponent when the Jaguars topped No. 19 San Diego State on the road in early October.

All that success comes as the league finalizes its football transition this season, with Idaho and New Mexico State's football-only memberships ending at the conclusion of the 2017 season and new league member Coastal Carolina becoming a full-fledged football member this fall. Next year, the Sun Belt will compete in football divisions for the first time and will stage its first-ever championship game at the end of the 2018 season.

"We are very excited going forward in football," Benson said. "Having our championship game next year only increases what we already have going. The footprint of this league was done to ensure long-term success and sustainability, and with the membership structure we now have in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas, that footprint is set up for even more success."

The Sun Belt gained much notoriety and notice during the past football season, but that was by no means the league's only hallmark during the past year. Men's basketball - the league's symbol of success in its formative years - had its highest conference RPI in more than a decade with a No. 13 national finish, and conference members found success in several NCAA postseason events.

Those league successes have been more public in recent years, in part because the Sun Belt itself has been progressive and in the forefront of "new media" and internet-based advancement. The league continues to adapt to the ever-changing world of collegiate athletics and continues the process of evolving to better serve its membership, keeping the pledge it made at its founding to be a league of opportunity. Athletic and academic programs who have shown progressive thinking and the desire to improve have always found a home in the Sun Belt.

Opportunities also extend to the league's student-athletes, for whom Sun Belt institutions are leaders in providing career services and the tools to assist in the pursuit of personal goals. Sun Belt members all employ fulltime academic advisors and have on average nearly two dozen tutors for academic support. During the recent 2015-16 academic year, Sun Belt member institutions awarded over $50 million in scholarships to more than 3,100 student-athletes, while also providing life experiences such as team building, domestic and foreign travel, community service, mentoring and recognition through honors and awards.

Individual opportunities also extend between the lines and on the fields and courts of competition. The Sun Belt had 40 players on active NFL rosters during the past season, with representation on 23 of 32 NFL clubs.

The league became one of seven conferences nationwide to have back-to-back first-round selections in the NBA Draft when Louisiana's Elfrid Payton went No. 10 overall to the Orlando Magic in 2014 and Georgia State's R. J. Hunter was the No. 28 pick of the Boston Celtics the following year.

The Sun Belt has nationally-respected programs in nearly every NCAA sport offering and remains a fixture on the national scene while remaining heavily involved in the conduct and competition of college athletics. But it also provides opportunities for success on many unique and different levels. In athletic parlance, the Sun Belt has "upside," and its motto of "Together We Rise" is just as applicable now as when it was founded as a home to some of the nation's premier mid-major basketball programs.

In its very first year, one of those programs reached the pinnacle of NCAA men's basketball competition when UNC Charlotte earned a berth in the Final Four. That type of success set the bar very high, but the league's four-decade history is sprinkled with landmark success in all seasons.

In the spring, baseball and softball continue to put the league in the national spotlight with deep runs in postseason play and high visibility in national polls. Louisiana's baseball team ranked No. 1 nationally in the final third of the 2014 season and reached the NCAA Super Regional round in 2014 and 2015, while its softball team has advanced to Super Regional play five times in the last six seasons including a trip to the 2014 Women's College World Series. More recently, new member Coastal Carolina reigned supreme at the pinnacle of college baseball, winning the College World Series only one year ago in the 2016 season.

Just as important as on-field success, the Sun Belt's commitment to academic excellence remains a league symbol. The league's record book for grade-point averages and academic honors is a constantly-changing document, seemingly with each year's success outdoing the previous year. This past spring, a record 23 league programs were recognized for outstanding performance in the classroom, with those teams earning NCAA Public Recognition Awards for APR scores in the top 10 percent nationally.

It was the third consecutive year the Sun Belt has broken its record for teams honored.

The strength of any league is its membership, and the Sun Belt added to its strength when Coastal Carolina joined in all sports except football in July 2016. CCU is in the middle of a transition to the Football Bowl Subdivision and will be in its first year of full FBS membership in 2018, but will compete for the Sun Belt football championship this season even though not eligible for postseason play until 2018.

Coastal joins Appalachian State, Arkansas State, Georgia Southern, Georgia State, Louisiana, ULM, South Alabama, Texas State and Troy to give the league 10 football members and enable the Sun Belt to inaugurate divisional football play and stage a conference championship game in 2018. Little Rock and UTA compete as Sun Belt members in all sports other than football, helping give the conference a mix of the "old" and the "new." Long-time league members, including charter member South Alabama's distinction in being a Sun Belt member since its founding in 1976, continue to have success, and a solid corps of conference newcomers continue to make their marks on league and national levels.

The "old" and "new" mix also gives the league vitality and diversity among its membership across the South. The mix of regions and regional cultures provides a rare opportunity for student-athletes and staffers to experience many environments, and the chance to experience that diversity without leaving their own campuses. The Sun Belt is also noteworthy for its attempts to make each of its championship events in every sport a special moment in the lives of its student-athletes and its many fans and followers.

Many individuals from Sun Belt institutions have brought distinction to their alma maters, and not just in athletics. For every All-Pro linebacker DeMarcus Ware (Troy) and NFL Man of the Year Charles Tillman (Louisiana), and for every World Series MVP David Freese (South Alabama) hailing from Sun Belt schools, there are also U.S. presidents (Lyndon Johnson, Texas State), business icons (Chick-fil-A president Daniel Cathy, Georgia Southern), nationally known entertainers (Tim McGraw, ULM and Ludacris, Georgia State), and even royalty (Miss America Debbye Turner, Arkansas State).

These proud alumni, as well as those who represent the dozen league institutions, are proof that the Sun Belt Conference is a league of excitement, a league of opportunity, and one that continues to provide the promise of success with each coming sunrise.

Arkansas State's athletics programs compete in top-of-the line facilities.

Centennial Bank Stadium, which opened in 1974, has evolved into a beautiful stadium which seats over 30,000 fans. The stadium has undergone a "Centennial Expansion" construction project that covers 40,000 square feet, including the press box and concourse.

The 192,000 square-foot First National Bank Arena is a multi-purpose facility that is home to the A-State basketball, volleyball and indoor track and field teams.

Coaches and student-athletes moved into a new $2.7 million track and field complex in spring 2004. It contains an eight-lane 400-meter track, installed in 2016, and can be set up for two NCAA venues.

Three local country clubs graciously allow A-State's men's and women's golf programs to utilize their facilities for practice and play.

J.A. "Ike" Tomlinson Stadium-Kell Field serves as home to Red Wolves baseball. Built in 1993, the stadium received complete lighting in 1996, 206 field level seats were added for the 2008 season and a new scoreboard was installed in 2011.

A-State's newest women's program, bowling, competes in the Hijinx Family Entertainment Center in Jonesboro and completed construction last year to add a players' lounge, locker rooms, pro shop, and offices that the Red Wolves were able to utilize completely this season.

The Red Wolves' soccer and track and field teams utilized the same stadium for the first time in school history during 2014-15, as the soccer field was relocated as part of the track facility.

A-State has also completed a new women's soccer and women's tennis facility, which houses both squads' locker rooms, training room, offices and more. New tennis courts were completed in 2016 as well.

Facilities have received a number of facelifts since Director of Athletics Terry Mohajir's arrival in 2012, making sure that the athletic department's "front door" and other sports areas possess a first-class appearance.

A-State has completed, is in the process of completing and has committed a combined $60 million in construction and facility renovations since Mohajir's arrival, including stadium lighting and seats at Centennial Bank Stadium. Also included in the upgrades have been renovations and updates inside the A-State Football Facility and weight rooms, locker rooms and training rooms at both Centennial Bank Stadium and First National Bank Arena, where new seating has also been installed.

• The first osteopathic medical school in Arkansas with New York Institute of Technology

• The first American-style residential university campus in Mexico at Campus Queretaro

• The first convention center and hotel with the Red Wolf Convention Center near Centennial Bank Stadium

Jonesboro, home of Arkansas State University, weighs in as the largest city in Northeast Arkansas. As a matter of fact, if you form a triangle by connecting Little Rock, St. Louis and Memphis, Jonesboro stands out as the largest metropolitan city in what amounts to a 17,000 square mile triangular area.

Jonesboro is a great city of over 70,000, and is always ready to welcome incoming A-State students from the moment they arrive in town. The booming community has matured over the past half century into a regional center for cultural, educational, industrial, commercial, agricultural, communication, transportation, recreational and medical interests. It contains almost every convenience of a big city and every comfort of a small town.

The community is alive with cultural events such as the art exhibitions, theatrical and musical productions, not only on campus but in the city itself through the Jonesboro Fine Arts Council, NEA Foundation of Arts, the Forum and the Northeast Arkansas Symphony.

Jonesboro is also the medical hub of northeast Arkansas and southeast Missouri, with two major hospitals and countless medical professionals. The city is also a shopping mecca, offering a modern business district as well as quaint downtown antique shops and restaurants. The $100 million Mall at Turtle Creek recently opened with more than 100 stores.

One of the five largest cities in Arkansas, Jonesboro is located between the vast and fertile Mississippi River and the cultural and scenic richness of the Ozark Mountains. It is nestled about 70 miles west of Memphis, Tennessee, on the gentle slopes of Crowley's Ridge.

Jonesboro is a comfortable one hour drive from Memphis, two hours from Little Rock and four hours from St. Louis.The city and University have meshed resources in recent years and have truly become the "capital" of the northeast quadrant of the state.

Northeast Arkansas is a recreation haven for the person who enjoys water sports, fishing, hunting, and boating as well as the joys of unspoiled nature. Jonesboro and the surrounding area have an abundance of lakes, rivers, ponds, streams and forests to serve as nature's playgrounds for the avid outdoors person.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS COMMITTEE

The Intercollegiate Athletics Committee (IAC) was formed in the spring of 1997.

The IAC reviews and makes recommendations on issues involving the welfare of student-athletes, the role of athletics in campus life, and the athletics program's compliance with the university, conference, and NCAA regulations; serves as a search advisory committee for key athletics program personnel; reviews the role of existing and potential sports programs; and reviews the athletics budget. The committee reports to the Chancellor.

Membership consists of four students appointed annually by the Student Government Association (one should be a student-athlete); four faculty appointed by the Faculty Senate (staggered two-year terms); one Faculty Athletic Representative appointed by the Chancellor (two-year term); one executive staff member appointed by the Chancellor (two-year term); the Dean of University College; two staff members appointed by the Staff Senate (staggered two-year terms); Student Government Association and Student Activities Board presidents; and representatives from the following external organizations: Alumni Association, Red Wolves Foundation, Lettermen's Club, and the Jonesboro Regional Chamber of Commerce ASU Committee. The Director of Intercollegiate Athletics and the Senior Woman Athletic Administrator serve as ex-officio, nonvoting members. The chancellor appoints a chair at the beginning of each academic year.

Dr. Charles Welch serves as president of the Arkansas State University System and has emerged as one of the state's leading advocates for higher education.

Dr. Welch was named the second president of the ASU System in November 2010 and officially began his new position in April 2011. He is the youngest person to ever serve as president or chancellor of an Arkansas community college, and is the youngest university president in Arkansas.

During his tenure, Dr. Welch has hired new chancellors for all five of the system's main campuses. Among the system's major expansion initiatives under his leadership are the merger of Mid-South Community College in West Memphis; the August 2016 opening of NYIT College of Osteopathic Medicine at Arkansas State, which will be the state's second medical school; and development of the first U.S.-style university campus in Mexico, which will open this fall. Additionally, the ASU System office was relocated to Little Rock and expanded to enhance its statewide exposure and position in higher education leadership at the State Capitol.

Dr. Welch is chairman of the board of the Arkansas Association of Public Universities, as well as co-chair of the executive council of the Arkansas Department of Higher Education. He previously served as president of Henderson State University, chancellor of the University of Arkansas Community College at Hope; vice chancellor for academic affairs at ASU-Beebe; and dean of university studies at Pulaski Technical College. Welch also worked at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock and has served as an instructor of education and political science at three different colleges in Arkansas.

A native of Jonesboro, Dr. Welch was a first-generation college student and the first member of either side of his extended family to receive a graduate degree. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in political science from the University of Arkansas, where he served as president of the student body. He received a Master of Arts degree in political management from George Washington University and a Doctor of Education degree in higher education administration from UALR.

His experience in the governmental affairs arena includes serving as a White House intern and on the staffs of U.S. Sen. David Pryor and then-U.S. Rep. Blanche Lincoln.

He is a past president of the Arkansas Association of Two-Year Colleges, is a former board member for the Arkansas Sheriffs' Youth Ranches, and was inducted into the Arkansas Boys State Hall of Fame. AY Magazine named Welch as one of the "Powerful Men of 2013", and in 2005, Arkansas Business selected Welch to "40 Under 40," which profiled 40 "intriguing business and political leaders under age 40." He also has been active in the communities where he has worked, serving on a variety of local and regional boards and committees.

Dr. Welch and his wife, Mandy, are the parents of three daughters: Wheatley Grace, Emma Caroline, and Ava Claire.

Kelly Damphousse became Chancellor of Arkansas State University on July 1, 2017, thanks to a personal email. An academic administrator at the University of Oklahoma since 2004, Damphousse (DAM-fiss) was serving as the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. He and his wife Beth were the family in residence at OU's freshman Headington Hall. In addition to enjoying teaching "Introduction to Sociology" to 700 first-year students each year, he was the Sooners' Big 12/NCAA Faculty Athletic Representative.

Then, he got that email.

The last person to say so, Damphousse over the years had become a highly sought-after, but "thanks, not interested," recruit of numerous president or chancellor searches. He'd seen his share of head-hunter pitches. But on that day, there was a personal message from the President of the Arkansas State University System. Chuck Welch explained how he was convinced Kelly Damphousse was the man for the job at A-State.

A personal touch with students, faculty, staff, alumni, and members of the Norman community was Damphousse's hallmark. His emphasis on placing students first became apparent during his campus visit to A-State in May 2017. The A-State Staff Senate heard the message and made "Every Red Wolf Counts" t-shirts that welcomed him and Beth when they were introduced later that month.

His self-effacing humor and a lifetime spent relating to individuals regardless of the job led him to Jonesboro to become the third permanently appointed Chancellor of Arkansas State, the sixth to hold the title since it was instituted in 2006. Damphousse joins the line of successors to the university's founding leader, V. C. Kays, from 1909 as the 13th chief executive of the institution.

Raised in a small fishing village in northern Canada, Damphousse attended Lethbridge Community College where he earned an associate's degree in law enforcement in 1982. A failed professional hockey tryout foiled one of his two early life ambitions, a career as a goalie in the NHL. His degree was the starting point for his other goal: becoming a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer. As he likes to say, three years in prison at the Alberta Correctional Service where he served as a correctional officer refocused his dream of becoming a Mountie.

Heading south, Damphousse enrolled at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville, Texas, where his life was changed forever. Along with completing his bachelor's in criminal justice, specializing in law enforcement and police science in 1987, he met Beth Smith, a College Station native who, in Kelly's words, "neither wanted to marry a cop or a Canadian." After a brief stint as a security manager for Macy's in Atlanta and New Orleans, he returned to graduate school at Texas A&M University where he discovered Satanism.

Actually, it was his thesis on the etiology of youthful Satanism that earned him his master's in sociology in 1991. After completing his master's degree, he progressed into the study of drug use at A&M, completing his doctorate under Howard Kaplan, the director of the laboratory for the Studies of Social Deviance, and examined in his dissertation the long-term consequences of using drugs.

He began his university career as an assistant professor in the Department of Justice Sciences at the University of Alabama at Birmingham in 1994, and then returned to his alma mater of Sam Houston State one year later as an assistant professor in the College of Criminal Justice.

Damphousse moved to OU in 1997 as member of the Department of Sociology, where he directed several research projects, most notably the "American Terrorism Study" with Brent Smith of the University of Arkansas. He also worked on the Arrestee Drug Abuse Monitoring project in Oklahoma City and Tulsa, and the first-ever field test of voice-stress analysis deception detection software. Damphousse was the principal investigator or co-principal investigator on 42 projects at Oklahoma and Sam Houston State.

The co-author with Smith and Jeffrey Gruenewald of the forthcoming 2018 book, Patterns of American Terrorism, Damphousse also served as the co-editor of Social Science Quarterly, volumes 92 through 97. He has authored or co-authored 26 peer-reviewed articles in scholarly publications, 31 book chapters and 20 peer-reviewed technical reports.

Becoming associate dean in 2004, he was appointed the interim dean of CAS at Oklahoma in 2013. Damphousse was made the permanent dean in 2014. As the leader of OU's largest and oldest college, Damphousse led the first college-wide strategic planning exercise as well as assisting faculty and staff in the raising of more than $30 million in private giving.

He and Beth have two daughters who are both graduates of Oklahoma. Kayleigh, a 2014 sociology graduate, earned a master's degree at Kansas, and is now the assistant director for retention and persistence at the University of Florida. Kristen, a 2016 biology graduate, is at Emory University working on her master's degree in public health. The Damphousses are also the proud parents of Maple Leif, a standard poodle and lab mix, who serves as the First Dog of A-State and tweets at @MapleLeifDamp.

Terry Mohajir became the 11th Director of Athletics in A-State history on September 19, 2012, and since that time the Red Wolves have enjoyed unprecedented overall success academically, competitively and financially.

Since being named director of athletics, Mohajir (pronounced MO-HODGE-ER) has adopted an "ALWAYS RISING" slogan as an expansion on the popular "RED WOLVES RISING" campaign. With that theme in mind, the Arkansas State alumnus has instituted sweeping changes, created new policies, produced record-breaking fundraising totals, overseen significant facility upgrades, almost tripled the athletics department budget and implemented creative philosophies that have put the Red Wolves on course to strengthen their national brand. During his watch, the Red Wolves have accomplished numerous firsts in both academics and athletics accomplishments, but the Red Wolves' passionate and energetic leader continues to reinforce his belief that "our accomplishments of today become our expectations of tomorrow."

A-State has claimed 13 conference championships under Mohajir, including four Sun Belt football titles (2012, 2013, 2015 and 2016) and league crowns in volleyball (2015), men's indoor (2015) and outdoor (2016) track and field, women's bowling (2016), women's basketball (2014 and 2016), women's indoor (2013) and outdoor (2015) track and field and women's cross country (2014).

Arkansas State had its first female student-athlete ever win an individual national championship and its women's athletics program claimed its highest finish all-time in the Capital One Cup standings, earning two prestigious "Top-50" awards for ranking No. 44 among all NCAA Division I programs during 2013-14 and No. 45 in 2015-16. The No. 44 ranking remains the highest ever by a Sun Belt Conference women's program.

The 2013-14 athletics year also saw A-State enjoy its highest ever finish in the Learfield Sports Director's Cup standings, ranking No. 1 in the Sun Belt Conference and No. 83 in the nation among 297 schools. The Red Wolves' finish not only set a school record, it topped the program's previous high of No. 134 set in 1999-2000 by 51 places. A-State posted its second highest finish ever in the standings in 2015-16, and, most recently, again led the Sun Belt Conference in 2016-17.

During Mohajir's tenure, A-State has won four football conference championships with three different head coaches, including Gus Malzahn, Bryan Harsin and Blake Anderson. His hires have been heralded by the national media as some of the best in the country.

Mohajir has responded well with coaching transitions. Carrying out one of his first major acts as athletics director, he appointed an interim head football coach and kept the entire assistant coaching staff in place for the 2013 GoDaddy.com Bowl. The Red Wolves went on to claim their first bowl victory since 1970 and their first win over a top-25 ranked opponent since joining the FBS in 1992. Faced with a head football coaching change following the next season as well, Mohajir guided A-State through the process again by keeping the assistant coaching staff in place and giving the Red Wolves everything needed in order to pick up a second consecutive GoDaddy Bowl win.

Mohajir has successfully guided A-State through coaching changes in other sports as well. He appointed Mike Hagen head men's golf coach prior to the 2015-16 season, and he was promptly named the Sun Belt Conference Coach of the Year. Mohajir's most recent hire, Mike Balado, was previously the lead assistant at one of the elite men's basketball programs in the nation in Louisville and is considered one of the top up-and-coming head coaches in the nation. He replaced Mohajir's previous hire, Grant McCasland, who led the Red Wolves to 20 regular-season victories to tie the school record in his lone year with the program.

Six different coaches at A-State since Mohajir's arrival have been named either a Sun Belt Conference Coach of the Year or national Coach of the Year a combined 12 times.

The value he places on the student-athlete has been evident, creating the inaugural A-State Awards held at the end of each year to celebrate both their academic and athletic accomplishments. He was behind the development of a student-advisory group that encompasses everything from a student-athlete mentorship program to fostering leadership in the community. The Red Wolves Leadership Academy program (RWLA) was designed with the sole purpose to obtain 100 percent job placement for all the athletics department's student-athletes upon graduation, and that key initiative has been achieved the last three years in a row.

The RWLA continues to strengthen with a new study abroad component added to foster global awareness, which is often cited by employers as a positive attribute they seek. The study abroad program was designed to allow students the ability to make themselves more marketable in the workforce. The summer of 2015 saw Arkansas State student-athletes take part in the first study abroad program offered by any university and their athletics department in the nation. The program goes hand-in-hand with the RWLA's primary purpose to obtain 100 percent job placement for all its graduating student-athletes.

The Red Wolves also saw their academic performance reach an all-time high during record-setting 2013, 2014, 2015 and 2016 fall semesters, which saw student-athletes achieve the best four ever all-department GPA's in consecutive years. A-State achieved a 3.083 all-department GPA in the fall of 2016. The 2016 fall semester featured a school-record 216 student-athletes named to the Athletics Director's Honor Roll, and the Red Wolves' all-department 3.070 GPA for the entire 2016-17 academic year was their highest ever. The athletics department also posted its best ever department-wide APR score each of the last two years, according to the latest data (2015-16 and 2014-15).

Additionally, the Red Wolves' have made a strong commitment to cost of attendance, appropriating funds for all student-athletes that is in the top 15 percent of all FBS schools.

Mohajir's candid media interviews and engaging public speaking appearances have captivated the Red Wolves fan base, but his actions in a short amount of time have also reflected his vision to take A-State Athletics to new heights.

The primary development arm of A-State Athletics, formerly known as the Red Wolf Club, has been renamed the Red Wolves Foundation and a new logo has been introduced as part of a rebranding effort. The changes have been in conjunction with new and exciting initiatives that have been put in place, designed to make a significant impact on donor relations and fundraising opportunities. The positive results are evident with a 300 percent increase in the foundation's annual fund revenue, while capital facilities fundraising is at an all-time high as well. A-State has also achieved its highest spot ever in the Collegiate Licensing Company's (CLC) rankings and set school records for both football total season ticket sales and season ticket revenue. Not only that, A-State is ranked 21st among the schools in the Group of 5 conferences in self-generated revenue.

The athletics department's budget has increased from $15.9 million in Mohajir's first year to $43.1 million (FY 2016), representing an increase of 171 percent. A-State Athletics placed among the top 10 programs in the nation in each of the four most recent Excellence in Management Cup standings, which annually reviews the nation's athletics departments in regards to maximizing fiscal resources while providing results in the form of championship victories.

The growth of A-State's brand under Mohajir led to signing a new 10-year agreement in 2016 with Learfield Sports, one of the multimedia industry leaders, which will generate unprecedented revenue in the athletics department's history. Arkansas State, in the fall of 2016, also entered a new seven-year partnership with adidas that is the most lucrative apparel-based contract in school history and makes it an elite adidas program.

Mohajir has made it a point to engage the fan base, stressing the importance of fan experience through avenues such as courtside seating at basketball games, enhancing game-day atmosphere and ensuring that staff go out of their way to extend every fan their assistance. Also among the changes in this area was the installation of a new approximately 1,600 square foot LED Daktronics scoreboard at Centennial Bank Stadium.

Facilities have received a number of facelifts since Mohajir's arrival as well, making sure that the athletic department's "front door" and other sports areas possess a first-class appearance. A-State has completed, is in the process of completing and has committed a combined $60 million in construction and facility renovations since Mohajir's arrival, including stadium lighting and seats at Centennial Bank Stadium, new tennis courts and a new outdoor track. Also included in the upgrades have been renovations and updates inside the A-State Football Facility and with weight rooms, locker rooms and training rooms at both Centennial Bank Stadium and the Convocation Center, where new seating has been installed.

The Red Wolves Foundation received a $5 million gift commitment from alumnus Johnny Allison for a renovation to its "Centennial Expansion," and it is the largest individual donation in A-State Athletics history. The construction and renovation project to the stadium's press box and west-side concourse covered 40,000 square feet and cost $26 million.

Additionally, a 78,000-square foot Student Activity Center (SAC), which also serves as an indoor practice facility for A-State sports, has been constructed on the north side of Centennial Bank Stadium. The approximate cost was $11 million for construction of the center and the relocation of the soccer complex.

He is currently overseeing the fundraising efforts for an approximately $26-million football facility project in Centennial Bank Stadium's north end zone as well.

Committed to Title IX and gender-equity initiatives, A-State has worked to improve coaching staff sizes and salaries, operation funding and facilities under Mohajir. Among the upgrades, A-State has completed a new women's soccer and women's tennis facility, which houses both squads' locker rooms, training room and more. A new women's bowling locker room, lounge and pro shop have also been constructed.

His philosophies on scheduling have been well documented, and they have resulted in home-and-home games with nationally-prominent programs such as Missouri and Miami for the first time in A-State history. He has capitalized on the Red Wolves recent success by gaining additional games against teams such as Southern Cal, making A-State the first Sun Belt program to schedule a football contest against the Trojans.

Mohajir was appointed as the Sun Belt Conference's representative on the inaugural College Football Playoff Athletic Director's Advisory Board, acting as one of 10 athletics directors from FBS conferences on the board. He was also asked to serve on the NCAA Division I Championships Cabinet and the NCAA Division I Football Issues Committee. Mohajir was one of six athletics directors appointed to the NCAA Division I Football Ad Hoc Recruiting Working Group, which was formed to conduct a comprehensive review of Division I football recruiting legislation. Additionally, he was invited to be a guest panelist at Knight Commission public meeting in May 2017 at the National Press Club.

Mohajir continues to evaluate and process information to complete a national-branding campaign, but has already started building a strong foundation for the future of A-State Athletics.

Mohajir's career path went through three other NCAA Division I institutions, including the University of Missouri-Kansas City, Florida Atlantic and Kansas, before leading him back to his alma mater.

Mohajir's wealth of experience, history of success working with a university in A-State's current conference and his noted accomplishments at a BCS automatic qualifying school made him a clear choice to take over the reins at Arkansas State. Mohajir has gained national respect in collegiate athletics while working with some of the finest administrators and coaches in the country, such as former FAU, Louisville, Miami and Oklahoma head football coach Howard Schnellenberger.

The Overland Park, Kansas native has been involved with major fundraising campaigns at multiple universities, while al so overseeing corporate sales, marketing promotions and ticket sales. Prior to A-State, he most recently served 16 months as Kansas' Senior Associate Director of Athletics and Chief Marketing Officer. Prior to his time with the Jayhawks, he spent a seven-year stint as Florida Atlantic's Senior Associate Director of Athletics for External Relations from 2004-11 after working at UMKC from 1997-2004 as its Assistant Director of Athletics for External Relations.

Mohajir worked at Kansas in a variety of capacities during two different stints, but his latest stop in Lawrence saw him assume responsibility for the Williams Education Fund that totaled over $22 million in revenue for the fiscal year 2012. He supervised the athletics department's areas that generated over $40 million in revenue. In addition, Mohajir oversaw Kansas' multimedia rights partnership for IMG. His most recent role as Chief Marketing Officer was heavily focused on the market strategies for the proposed football stadium renovations.

Mohajir went to Kansas from his position at Florida Atlantic, where he oversaw development, marketing, ticket sales, corporate sales and the media relations department. Foremost among his responsibilities was a fundraising campaign for a $70 million on-campus football stadium. His astute project management helped the Owls' football program reach the 2007 New Orleans Bowl in just its fourth year as an FBS program, an NCAA record for the fastest start-up program to go to a bowl game. During his tenure, FAU's athletics department enhanced its major gift program 800 percent, Owl Club giving increased 400 percent and special-events revenue increased 150 percent.

Mohajir's original connection to KU dated back to the early 1990's, when he was a graduate assistant, an assistant offensive line coach and game-day special team's football coach for the Jayhawks (1993-96). He left Kansas in 1997 but didn't go far, staying in the Kansas City area to take over his administrative position with the newly-created Division I UMKC Athletics program. There he supervised marketing and promotions, sports information, fundraising, radio and TV contracts, corporate sales, tickets, event operations, sports medicine, strength and conditioning and men's soccer.

Under his leadership, the Kangaroos saw dramatic increases in endowment, sponsorships, ticket revenue and its donor base. One of his more visible accomplishments at UMKC was the fundraising and construction efforts for a new training room and strength and conditioning center.

During his time as an assistant coach at Kansas, Mohajir was on the staff that beat UCLA in the 1995 Aloha Bowl and had a final ranking of No. 9 in the AP poll. He was also a football ticket sales and promotions account executive for Kansas Athletics and earned a master's degree in sports management at KU in 1997.

Mohajir graduated from Arkansas State University with a major in sports management and a minor in business marketing in 1993. He was a starting safety on A-State's football team.

Mohajir is married to the former Julie Hammond and they have two daughters, Maria (16) and Molly (14), and son, Marco (9).
